Bill On Highway Safety Introduced In Assembly

House Votes $4.5 Billion To Run War

Anti-Bombing Bid Rejected; Senate Puts OK On Clark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has rejected an anti-bombing declaration and voted $4.5 billion to finance Vietnam fighting.

After a sometimes fiery 4½-hour debate the House approved by voice vote Thursday the military authorization bill asked by President Johnson. The Senate passed a similar measure Wednesday.

Minutes before the showdown vote, the House defeated 372 to 18 an amendment by Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-Calif., that would have banned use of the funds to finance military activities "in or over" North Vietnam.

A Senate-House conference committee will hammer out minor differences in the versions of the money measure.

While House debate swirled around Vietnam, the Senate unanimously approved the nomination of Ramsey Clark as attorney general and argued the merits of a pending congressional reorganization measure.

Elsewhere in the capital, the President's Social Security proposals drew Republican fire at a House Ways and Means Committee hearing. And a number of senators expressed pleasure at Johnson's announcement that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has agreed to talks on ways to curb the U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms race.

Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee led opposition to the amendment banning use of the $4.5 billion for bombing North Vietnam.

Rivers said regardless of any other issues, "our flesh and blood are in Vietnam, and they need weapons."

A critic of the bombing, Rep. Donald Fraser, D-Minn., asked Rivers if political aspects of the Vietnam conflict weren't equally as important as military aspects.

Rivers, who recently recommended that Hanoi be leveled by bombing, agreed and said: "I don't think that guns and tanks and planes win wars. You've got to have love in the hearts of people."

The Senate's confirmation of Clark, 39, came on a voice vote shortly after the Senate Judiciary Committee speedily okayed Johnson's choice. Committee members asked few questions of the man who has been acting attorney general since last Oct. 3.

Instead, several members expressed regret that Clark's

Jets Bomb Viet Village; 93 Killed, 200 Wounded

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON, (AP) — Two jet planes that knifed in from Laos bombed and strafed the South Vietnamese village of Lang Vei near the Laotian border Thursday night, killing 83 civilians and wounding 200, the U.S. command announced today. The raiders' identity remained undetermined.

One American spokesman said the planes were presumed to have been American or South Vietnamese. But there was speculation the Communists may have staged it as their first air strike into South Vietnam.

"I would say that the possibility of that (as a Communist blow) is so far out it can be discounted," said a U.S. Air Force officer in Da Nang, "but it is possible."

Capt. J. Duffy, 28, San Diego, Calif., who commands a Special Forces camp that overlooks Lang Vei from a hill 500 yards away, said he could not determine the make of the planes, but they were delta-winged.

The Soviet-designed MIG jets that make up the bulk of North Vietnam's air force have this type of swept-back wings.

A U.S. Air Force officer said the only delta-winged American craft operating in South Viet-Nam is the Air Force's F102.

"It is strictly an air defense bird and there were no F102s in the area," he said.

The bombs and fires they set off destroyed about 100 of the thatch, bamboo and wooden houses over a 400-yard path within the village. It has been home to about 2,000 people, mostly Montagnard mountain tribesmen.

If this was an accidental bombing, it would be the worst such tragedy announced so far in the war.

The bombing took place five hours after a U.S. helicopter was shot down in the area and was carried out virtually under the noses of the Special Forces men stationed on a hill above the village, which is named Lang Vei. The village is filled with refugees who had fled from the Viet Cong for government security.

The airstrike just at sunset presumably was also witnessed by U.S. Marines stationed at Khe Son, some five miles from the village, which sits astride Route 9, the natural invasion route from Communist-controlled areas of Laos.

About 150 of the most seriously wounded villagers were taken to government and U.S. hospitals near the coast.

The worst previous accidental bombing of agovernment village occurred in the Mekong Delta when 63 civilians were killed and 83 wounded in Phuoc Dinh Province last Aug. 9. The worst reported disaster involving civilians happened on Christmas eve when a chartered four-engine cargo plane crashed into a civilian residential section near the Da Nang runway and killed 21 civilians.

Final Okay Given To 2 Resolutions

Bond, Apportion Proposals Handed To State Secretary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— An extensive highway safety bill almost two years in the making has been introduced simultaneously in both houses of the Ohio Legislature.

The bulky, 44-page measure was offered Thursday as the lawmakers ended their busiest week of the session — highlighted by their final approval of two major constitutional resolutions.

Leaders of both houses signed and sent to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown the proposals to create an Ohio Bond Commission and to provide for permanent legislative districts.

Both will be certified by Brown for a statewide vote despite threats by Democrats to challenge them in the courts. They maintain language in each proposal calling for a May 2 vote is illegal because such an election must be called by statute.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati, Hamilton and Rep. Gordon M. Scherer R-71 Cincinnati, Hamilton were authors of the twin highway safety measures which they said would give Ohio one of the most comprehensive programs in the nation.

Their measure, resulting in part from a study on highway safety ordered by the 1965 legislature, was among 20 received before the lawmakers adjourned until 8 p.m. Monday.

Others would change the date for primary elections from the first Tuesday after the first Monday in May to the same day in September and establish an Ohio Commission to pick an official state song. Various bills plugging individual songs for distinction already are pending in the legislature.

Other measures would establish a state department on local governments, require a 10th grade education for barbers and permit teachers three days' personal leave each school year.

Rep. Howard A. Knight R-13 Sandusky and others introduced a resolution asking Congress to finance research to help control the population of red-winged blackbirds which cause an estimated $15 million a year to Ohio crops.

Two bills were passed by the Senate and sent to the House. One would legalize a current placing federal grants to the Board of Regents in a separate rotary account and the other would permit boards of elections to establish permanent branch offices.

Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion said many boards already maintain branch offices almost the year around anyway and that the bill would permit them to take advantage of long-term building leases.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill appropriating $259,000 for the state's new thoroughbred racing fund.

Maloney said the highway safety measure is designed to make Ohio laws conform with the new federal act and to impose tougher laws and heavier penalties for traffic violations.

He said the bill in its present form does not include one of the new federal requirements calling for periodic physical re-examination of drivers. "We have not been able to come up with a workable plan," the senator said.

LBJ Repudiates Kennedy Call For Halt To Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's icy repudiation of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's call for a peace-seeking halt to bombing of North Vietnam emphasizes their escalating differences.

Johnson twice defended the bombing almost as Kennedy spoke Thursday, but the White House said he would not comment on the Kennedy proposals.

Within hours, however, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. military commander in Vietnam, rejected the New York Democrat's proposal that the United States stop bombing the Communist North and announce: "We are ready to negotiate within the week."

Rusk said the Communists already have spurned such a formula. Westmoreland said in Saigon that any pause in bombing "will cost many additional lives and probably prolong the conflict."

Johnson forearmed a Senate ally with a letter declaring the air attacks imperative and saying they will persist until the Hanoi government makes a serious move toward peace.

It bore Wednesday's date and provided an instant rebuttal when Kennedy stood in the Senate to deliver his well-advertised speech on peace moves in Vietnam.

Shortly before, Johnson had discussed the bombing at a surprise news conference.

Kennedy sent an advance copy of his proposals to the White House — which said the manuscript had been passed on to the State Department.

George Christian, press secretary, said Johnson did not read the text.

While Kennedy began his speech by saying Johnson is "entitled to our hopeful sympathy, our understanding and our support in the search for peace," the 12 pages that followed were dotted with harsh words about American tactics in the Southeast Asian war.

It added up to a major expansion of the gap between the President and the senator, political heir to his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

"We should reach for the moment of promise which may have come," Kennedy told two dozen Senate colleagues and an audience that crowded the galleries. "The fact of the matter is that the bombing of the North can be stopped as a step toward peace without effectively weakening our position in the South."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was Johnson's spokesman on the Senate floor. It was Jackson who made public, minutes after the Kennedy speech began, the President's letter praising, defending and standing firm on the air war in North Vietnam.

In that letter, Johnson said: "Both the reasons for — and the results of — the bombing of North Vietnam make it imperative that we continue to use this instrument of support for our men and our allies.

"It will end when the other side is willing to take equivalent

Combat Deaths Surging Upward

U.S. Losses In Vietnam Seen Near Red Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. combat deaths in Vietnam are surging upward at a percentage rate nearly matching Communist losses.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Wednesday that enemy casualties have increased 40 to 50 per cent the last three months. He did not mention U.S. losses.

But Defense Department figures show today that the rate of U.S. deaths for the last two weeks of stepped-up military action and for the first eight weeks of 1967, when compared to last year, are approaching the rates of Communist increase for the same periods.

Record Communist losses the last two weeks — 2,332 and 2,032 for a 2,182 average — were 106 per cent above the enemy's 1966 weekly combat loss average of 1,060.

Defense Department figures show 163 and 172 U.S. combat dead during the same two weeks — 74 per cent above last year's 96 per week fatality rate.

So far in 1967, U.S. combat losses are running 33 per cent higher than last year at 128 a week.

This is almost even with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, whose average weekly death total for the first eight weeks this year is up 35 per cent — 1,435 per week this year compared with 1,060 per week in 1966.

Early this year, U.S. Ambassador to Vietnam Henry Cabot Lodge, said in an interview, "I believe the purely military part of the war — which is what the Americans are engaged in — will make tremendous progress in 1967 and that the percentage of American casualties will start declining."

Lodge would not amplify on his prediction, but indicated he meant that in coming months U.S. battle deaths as a percentage of the over-all American strength will decline.

The United States has 415,000 men in South Vietnam at present. Sources say the administration is looking for 475,000 by the end of the year, barring unforeseen changes in the war.

At the current rate of losses, the United States in 1967 would suffer nearly 6,700 combat deaths in Southeast Asia. Last year's toll, with fewer troops in the country, was 5,008.

In 1966 Communist battlefield fatalities exceeded U.S. losses by 11 to 1 — about 55,000 to 5,000.

So far this year the enemy has suffered 7,578 dead by official tabulations, compared with 1,024 American losses, a ratio of about 7 to 1.

During the last two weeks, South Vietnamese combat dead averaged 240, or 24 per cent higher than the 1966 weekly average of 182.

For this year South Vietnamese combat losses are averaging 208 per week compared to 182 per week last year.

Possibly For Invasion of South

North Vietnam Has Force Of 35,000 Men At Border

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese army has built up a possible invasion force of some 35,000 men along the 17th parallel separating North and South Vietnam, informed sources said today.

The sources said three Communist divisions are in the area — one immediately north of the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam and two operating from the six-mile zone or the adjoining South Vietnamese province of Quang Tri.

The North Vietnamese have maintained two divisions in this area for several months, intelligence officers say. The additional division apparently moved to within striking distance of the border within the past 30 days, the sources said.

The disclosure was made shortly after Gen. William C. Westmoreland in a statement said U.S. forces must continue bombing North Vietnam as long as Hanoi continues to move large numbers of troops and war supplies southward.

The U.S. military command in Vietnam said that to halt the bombing now would increase the loss of American lives and probably prolong the war.

Although the U.S. Command doesn't know what plans the North Vietnamese have for their troops along the 17th Parallel, informed military sources said the force once again has the capability of attacking across the demilitarized zone.

Such an attack was anticipated last year but the U.S. Marines launched Operation Hasting and badly bloodied North Vietnam's 324B division. U.S. officers said the Reds then had a well developed plan to push two divisions into the northern part of South Vietnam to try to seize control of Quang Tri Province at least.

Informed sources said the present role of the North Vietnamese troops in the area appears to be largely to pin down U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in order to weaken their

Report Hints Thant, Hanoi Aides To Talk

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Usually reliable sources predicted a meeting today between U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and the North Vietnamese delegation that arrived in Rangoon last week.

Thant was reported resting at the state guest house and could not be reached for comment. There was no immediate way to confirm any contacts between the secretary-general and the North Vietnamese, who are led by Col. Ha Van Lau, his government's chief representative to the International Control Commission in Hanoi.

A North Vietnamese spokesman stuck to the story that the delegation is making a routine check of Hanoi's Embassy in Rangoon. A U.N. spokesman repeated Thant's statement that he would comment, if that was warranted, on leaving for New York Saturday night.

A meeting between Thant and Burmese President Ne Win, scheduled for this morning, was postponed until tonight.

Bomb Scare Grounds Plane At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A bomb scare today grounded a Lake Central Airlines DC-3 from Pittsburgh while officials of the Youngstown Police and Fire Departments and the Mahoning County sheriff's office searched the plane and the luggage of 10 passengers who were aboard.

Palmer Holiday, district manager for Lake Central in Pittsburgh, said an anonymous telephone call was made to Lake Central management at Pittsburgh's Allegheny County Airport reporting only that a bomb was on a Lake Central plane.

The DC-3 bound for Detroit by way of Youngstown, Akron and Cleveland, was ordered grounded and searched.

Pittsburgh officials were checking other Lake Central planes at the county airport.

Jury Rules 'Not Guilty' In Stolen Property Case

BULLETIN

LISBON — A verdict of not guilty was returned at 11:50 a.m. today in the case of Mrs. Louise Melvin, accused of receiving and concealing stolen goods.

LISBON — A jury which has heard four days of testimony in the trial of Mrs. Louise Melvin, 46, of rear 454 Mulberry St., East Liverpool, began deliberations at 9:30 a.m. today.

It must decide whether the defendant did, as charged, on or about Nov. 23, in Columbiana County, receive and-or conceal property stolen from Cataldo's TV store in Wellsville, knowing it was stolen.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Charles Lang, court-appointed defense counsel, concluded summations about 3:50 p.m. Thursday. Judge Joel H. Sharp completed his charge to the jury at 4:20 and excused it until this morning.

Along with the indictment, exhibits and blank verdicts, the jury has a bill of particulars which Lang requested from the prosecutor before trial.

It itemizes 26 pieces of merchandise which Albert Cataldo, the TV store owner, listed missing after the burglary the night of Nov. 22-23.

Check marks by six items on the list indicate merchandise Officer Edward James of Wellsville recovered — two TV's, two radios, a phonograph and a stereo.

Cataldo valued the stolen merchandise at $1,358. Only the six items were recovered.

There was much conflicting testimony. Judge Sharp told the jury it was obvious not all the witnesses told the truth.

For the state, Brent Parsons, 18, of 471 Mulberry St., said he and Joe Murray, 19, Mrs. Mel-

Hoffa Denied Bid To Delay Prison Term

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge today denied a request for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to be allowed additional time to get his affairs in order before entering prison.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frank W. Wilson issued a memorandum saying Hoffa did not give sufficient cause to delay his commitment to prison March 7.

Hoffa sought a delay until April 1 — the day after the Teamsters contract with the 11,000-member national trucking industry expires.

Wilson, in his opinion, took cognizance of the pending negotiations, but said the court did not believe Hoffa's continued freedom would "materially alter the situation."

Wilson said a formal order would be entered in accordance with his opinion today.

North Vietnam Has Force Of 35,000 Men At Border

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese army has built up a possible invasion force of some 35,000 men along the 17th parallel separating North and South Vietnam, informed sources said today.

The sources said three Communist divisions are in the area — one immediately north of the demilitarized zone dividing Vietnam and two operating from the six-mile zone or the adjoining South Vietnamese province of Quang Tri.

The North Vietnamese have maintained two divisions in this area for several months, intelligence officers say. The additional division apparently moved to within striking distance of the border within the past 30 days, the sources said.

The disclosure was made shortly after Gen. William C. Westmoreland in a statement said U.S. forces must continue bombing North Vietnam as long as Hanoi continues to move large numbers of troops and war supplies southward.

The U.S. military command in Vietnam said that to halt the bombing now would increase the loss of American lives and probably prolong the war.

Although the U.S. Command doesn't know what plans the North Vietnamese have for their troops along the 17th Parallel, informed military sources said the force once again has the capability of attacking across the demilitarized zone.

Such an attack was anticipated last year but the U.S. Marines launched Operation Hasting and badly bloodied North Vietnam's 324B division. U.S. officers said the Reds then had a well developed plan to push two divisions into the northern part of South Vietnam to try to seize control of Quang Tri Province at least.

Informed sources said the present role of the North Vietnamese troops in the area appears to be largely to pin down U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in order to weaken their

Report Hints Thant, Hanoi Aides To Talk

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Usually reliable sources predicted a meeting today between U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and the North Vietnamese delegation that arrived in Rangoon last week.

Thant was reported resting at the state guest house and could not be reached for comment. There was no immediate way to confirm any contacts between the secretary-general and the North Vietnamese, who are led by Col. Ha Van Lau, his government's chief representative to the International Control Commission in Hanoi.

A North Vietnamese spokesman stuck to the story that the delegation is making a routine check of Hanoi's Embassy in Rangoon. A U.N. spokesman repeated Thant's statement that he would comment, if that was warranted, on leaving for New York Saturday night.

A meeting between Thant and Burmese President Ne Win, scheduled for this morning, was postponed until tonight.

Bomb Scare Grounds Plane At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A bomb scare today grounded a Lake Central Airlines DC-3 from Pittsburgh while officials of the Youngstown Police and Fire Departments and the Mahoning County sheriff's office searched the plane and the luggage of 10 passengers who were aboard.

Palmer Holiday, district manager for Lake Central in Pittsburgh, said an anonymous telephone call was made to Lake Central management at Pittsburgh's Allegheny County Airport reporting only that a bomb was on a Lake Central plane.

The DC-3 bound for Detroit by way of Youngstown, Akron and Cleveland, was ordered grounded and searched.

Pittsburgh officials were checking other Lake Central planes at the county airport.

After Trial At Lisbon

Jury Rules 'Not Guilty' In Stolen Property Case

BULLETIN

LISBON — A verdict of not guilty was returned at 11:50 a.m. today in the case of Mrs. Louise Melvin, accused of receiving and concealing stolen goods.

LISBON — A jury which has heard four days of testimony in the trial of Mrs. Louise Melvin, 46, of rear 454 Mulberry St., East Liverpool, began deliberations at 9:30 a.m. today.

It must decide whether the defendant did, as charged, on or about Nov. 23, in Columbiana County, receive and-or conceal property stolen from Cataldo's TV store in Wellsville, knowing it was stolen.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Charles Lang, court-appointed defense counsel, concluded summations about 3:50 p.m. Thursday. Judge Joel H. Sharp completed his charge to the jury at 4:20 and excused it until this morning.

Along with the indictment, exhibits and blank verdicts, the jury has a bill of particulars which Lang requested from the prosecutor before trial.

It itemizes 26 pieces of merchandise which Albert Cataldo, the TV store owner, listed missing after the burglary the night of Nov. 22-23.

Check marks by six items on the list indicate merchandise Officer Edward James of Wellsville recovered — two TV's, two radios, a phonograph and a stereo.

Cataldo valued the stolen merchandise at $1,358. Only the six items were recovered.

There was much conflicting testimony. Judge Sharp told the jury it was obvious not all the witnesses told the truth.

For the state, Brent Parsons, 18, of 471 Mulberry St., said he and Joe Murray, 19, Mrs. Mel-

Hoffa Denied Bid To Delay Prison Term

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A federal judge today denied a request for Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to be allowed additional time to get his affairs in order before entering prison.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Frank W. Wilson issued a memorandum saying Hoffa did not give sufficient cause to delay his commitment to prison March 7.

Hoffa sought a delay until April 1 — the day after the Teamsters contract with the 11,000-member national trucking industry expires.

Wilson, in his opinion, took cognizance of the pending negotiations, but said the court did not believe Hoffa's continued freedom would "materially alter the situation."

Wilson said a formal order would be entered in accordance with his opinion today.

"It is apparent that the defendant is a person presently having large responsibilities in many areas," Wilson wrote.

ed flying blankets, clothing and food to the villagers still in Lang Vei, which is 20 miles south of the frontier with North Vietnam. There has been heavy activity by infiltrating North Vietnamese troops in the area.

The U.S. Command also announced that U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin have begun bombarding surface-to-air missile sites in North Vietnam. The first attack was Thursday 13 miles north of Vinh, and the Navy reported a huge column of smoke over the missile site.

The Navy said the cruiser Canberra and two destroyers shelled a number of other targets including radar installations and antiaircraft batteries, apparently in an attempt to reduce U.S. plane losses over the North.

The Canberra was hit by a shore battery in a duel Wednesday but suffered only minor damage.

Informed U.S. military sources confirmed an earlier Vietnamese report that three North Vietnamese divisions totalling perhaps 35,000 men are now operating above and below the demilitarized zone and constitute a possible invasin force.

The sources said two divisions have been in the area for several months and the third apparently moved within striking distance of the border within the past 30 days.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, joined in the debate over continuance of the bombing of North Vietnam with a statement that U.S. forces must continue the bombing as long as Hanoi continues to move large numbers of troops and war supplies southward.

North Vietnamese units poured nearly 2,000 rounds of mortar shells into Marine and U.S. artillery positions near the zone this week, inflicting heavy casualties on two Leatherneck companies.

The Marines moved through the battlefield Thursday and reported killing 60 enemy soldiers in two engagements. Elsewhere in the country, American forces reported killing 42 other Communist troops.

U.S. fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnam with 85 missions Thursday, and pilots reported four barges sunk and 28 barges and a freight train damaged.

U.S. pilots flew 462 strike sorties in South Vietnam, 230 of them in support of ground operations. In one of them, two Air Force Super Sabre pilots said they demolished 25 sampans and 18 fortified positions at an enemy supply point 81 miles from Saigon.

action as part of a serious effort to end this war and bring peace to the people of Southeast Asia."

Jackson said Johnson wrote the letter in response to his request after a dinner conversation Feb. 18. The senator, a staunch administration ally in the Vietnam debate, said he asked that the President's position on the bombing be spelled out in one document.

There were two versions of the letter's timing. A Jackson aide said copies of the letter were distributed to newsmen minutes after they arrived from the White House. The White House said the timing of its release was determined by Jackson.

Kennedy said a halt in the bombing would, "test the sincerity of the statement by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and others asserting that if the bombardment of the North is halted negotiations would begin."

It was one in a series of steps the senator proposed.

The others:

He said the United States must make clear that there cannot be prolonged peace talks without an agreement that neither side shall substantially increase the size of the war in South Vietnam.

"An international group should be asked to inspect the borders and ports of the country to report any further escalation."

"And under the direction of the United Nations and with an international presence gradually replacing American forces, we should move toward a final settlement which allows all the major political forces in South Vietnam to participate in the choice of leadership and shape their future."

Rusk said such peace overtures have been tried in recent days without success.

"Proposals substantially similar to those put forward by Sen. Kennedy were explored prior to, during and since the Tet truce — all without results," he said.

Tet was the Lunar New Year, and that holiday truce was accompanied by a six-day bombing pause which ended Feb. 13.

"We encountered only hostile actions in response," Rusk said. "There is therefore no reason to believe at this time that Hanoi is interested in proposals for mutual de-escalation."

pacification efforts in the 1st Corps area, a region of traditional dissidence to the Saigon government.

The Red force in the rugged, jungled area in the western part of the demilitarized zone is also a covering force for the infiltration of men and supplies into the South.

Informed military sources said there has been no sign of any decrease in the flow of troops and supplies from the North.

The U.S. Command admits that it has no reliable up to date figures but the U.S. military evaluation is that the flow remains whopping.

North Vietnamese units poured nearly 2,000 rounds of mortar shells into Marine and U.S. artillery positions near the zone this week, inflicting heavy casualties on two Leatherneck companies.

The Marines moved through the battlefield Thursday and reported killing 60 enemy soldiers in two engagements. Elsewhere in the country, American forces reported killing 42 other Communist troops.

U.S. fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnam with 85 missions Thursday, and pilots reported four barges sunk and 28 barges and a freight train damaged.

U.S. pilots flew 462 strike sorties in South Vietnam, 230 of them in support of ground operations. In one of them, two Air Force Super Sabre pilots said they demolished 25 sampans and 18 fortified positions at an enemy supply point 81 miles from Saigon.

action as part of a serious effort to end this war and bring peace to the people of Southeast Asia."

Jackson said Johnson wrote the letter in response to his request after a dinner conversation Feb. 18. The senator, a staunch administration ally in the Vietnam debate, said he asked that the President's position on the bombing be spelled out in one document.

There were two versions of the letter's timing. A Jackson aide said copies of the letter were distributed to newsmen minutes after they arrived from the White House. The White House said the timing of its release was determined by Jackson.

Kennedy said a halt in the bombing would, "test the sincerity of the statement by Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and others asserting that if the bombardment of the North is halted negotiations would begin."

It was one in a series of steps the senator proposed.

The others:

He said the United States must make clear that there cannot be prolonged peace talks without an agreement that neither side shall substantially increase the size of the war in South Vietnam.

"An international group should be asked to inspect the borders and ports of the country to report any further escalation."

"And under the direction of the United Nations and with an international presence gradually replacing American forces, we should move toward a final settlement which allows all the major political forces in South Vietnam to participate in the choice of leadership and shape their future."

Rusk said such peace overtures have been tried in recent days without success.

"Proposals substantially similar to those put forward by Sen. Kennedy were explored prior to, during and since the Tet truce — all without results," he said.

Tet was the Lunar New Year, and that holiday truce was accompanied by a six-day bombing pause which ended Feb. 13.

"We encountered only hostile actions in response," Rusk said. "There is therefore no reason to believe at this time that Hanoi is interested in proposals for mutual de-escalation."

pacification efforts in the 1st Corps area, a region of traditional dissidence to the Saigon government.

The Red force in the rugged, jungled area in the western part of the demilitarized zone is also a covering force for the infiltration of men and supplies into the South.

Informed military sources said there has been no sign of any decrease in the flow of troops and supplies from the North.

The U.S. Command admits that it has no reliable up to date figures but the U.S. military evaluation is that the flow remains whopping.

More Progress In The Offing

Gov. James A. Rhodes, presenting his balanced budget to the General Assembly and the people of Ohio Tuesday night, reviewed the state's progress and promised much more will be done.

Gov. Rhodes proved he has been listening to voters by revealing that 91 per cent of the nearly $5 billion for the next two years will be directed to education, health and welfare programs.

A favorite criticism of opponents of the Rhodes administration has been lack of money for education, mental health and welfare programs.

The governor also pledged to seek stronger laws to crack down in nonsupport cases to ease any unnecessary welfare burden on Ohio taxpayers.

The state will be moving ahead in programs for senior citizens, youth, in the field of correction, natural resource preservation, pollution control, tourism, urban affairs and highways.

Gov. Rhodes understandingly pointed with pride to the state's No. 1 ranking in industrial growth and the fact Ohio policies are being copied by other states.

It was not a pie-in-the-sky budget based on hopes and figures pulled from a hat. It was a sound budget held together with planning and forward-looking perspective.

A significant point in the State of the State address was the absence of any reference to new taxes. This is compatible with Gov. Rhodes' strong stand against new taxes for Ohioans.

The governor said the state is willing to advance all the capital needed to build the Appalachian Highway in Southeastern Ohio in two years, instead of following the federal timetable of 10 years.

The federal government is being asked to guarantee payment of its share at a later date.

The growth mirrored in the budget will depend heavily on the proposed Ohio Bond Commission which would provide millions in capital improvement funds.

Gov. Rhodes is asking Ohio voters to share in the drive for a top-notch state in every area by approving the commission proposal.

Approval of the bond revenue measure and the administration's follow-up on its programs could provide one of the most exciting growth eras in Ohio's history.

Progress Underfoot

There have been a number of improvements in East Liverpool's downtown business area in recent years, with indications of even more.

But many pedestrians, including shoppers, must wonder if an extra effort could not be made in one small and not expensive way.

It not only would be considerate, it would be commercially smart for businessmen to clear their sidewalks of snow and ice quickly when the occasion demands.

To slip, slide and slog through slush is uncomfortable, inconvenient and hazardous.

Most businessmen make sure the walks in front of their establishments are clear and safe. But enough do not to focus attention on the problem.

Home owners also have a responsibility.

The man in the street is all for progress and development, but we feel sure he would be happier if a small portion is directed toward our sidewalks the next time the snow falls.

There's Only One Reason

Ohioans anxious to get moving on the State Bond Commission proposal can see no valid reason for not making their decision at the primaries in May.

If the proposals' merits are convincing — and they have proved to be so to most people who have studied the proposal — there can be no justification for delaying the popular vote.

Least of all can there be justification for a special election.

Obviously, the Rhodes administration and the Republican legislative leaders in the General Assembly would not want to wait until the general election in November for a decision. That would stall the program and its promise of accelerated progress for Ohio for at least a year.

It is admitted that a vote at the May primaries would cost extra money because the polls are not open in all precincts.

But it would be less costly to vote in May than in June, for instance.

The intrinsic merit of the bond commission proposal is to build now and pay later in money values reflecting the declining purchasing power of dollars as the national economy and the economy of Ohio expand and pick up momentum.

Promptness in getting under way is the essence of the program.

Ohioans are being asked to make a decision in their own behalf.

Those who would stall the decision are mistrustful of the people they supposedly represent.

Those who would stall the decision are misvoters and will abide by their judgment at the polls — preferably at the May primaries.

Hoffa's Long Journey

No one will get any great satisfaction out of seeing James R. Hoffa in jail, if that is where he ends up.

Jail would be an anticlimax in the story of his life.

The climax came when prosecutors, judges and investigators closed in on a way of doing business outside the law. Hoffa was so intent on building the power of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters he did not mind tearing down the structure of Society to do it sometimes.

The specific misdeed that finally tripped him up was a charge of tampering with a federal jury in a trial in Nashville, Tenn., in 1962. He was accused of accepting illegal payments from an employer. The judge declared a mistrial and ordered an investigation of jury tampering.

This led to Hoffa's conviction in 1964.

Vast expenditures for expert legal counsel have kept him out of jail, but no one has doubted for many years that he was capable of doing anything he thought was necessary to run the Teamsters with a strong hand.

This confronted his critics with a dilemma.

They did not know how to get at the Teamsters president without seeming to be getting at the union. His devotion to its members rarely has been questioned; his methods yes, his devotion no.

He embraced the philosophy that the end justified the means in a rough-and-tumble game. He could point to other union leaders who believed and practiced the same thing; some have sat in judgment on him.

It was of no consequence to him that he sometimes broke the law and violated the rules. But it became of more and more consequence to those who had to explain why James R. Hoffa did not appear to be subject to the same laws and rules that governed other people.

The man has been on his way to jail for a long, long time.

He may finally arrive there to the surprise of no one.

Dear Truman Twill:

Just when I was about to tell you I had full faith in the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and was tired of the new books sniping at the report, the DA in New Orleans breaks into the news by saying he can prove there was a conspiracy to commit the assassination.

It is getting so that I am only surprised when I am right about something.

Further instances are that I think we should de-escalate the war in Vietnam, and I never thought man would get to the moon in this century.

You remember I told you there was a "J.M. Faber, No. 2" pencil sold by a John M. Faber, news depot operator, in our town 100 years ago.

Well, Twill, I phoned all the Fabers in our phone book and none of them ever heard of John M. Faber, but a few of the local Fabers are descended from Eberhard Faber, the man who founded the famous pencil company bearing his name.

The Fabers were all very nice on the phone and it was a pleasure to talk to them.

THE BIRD feeder is getting a workout because of all the snow on the ground. We don't get much variety of birds, just cardinals, chickadees, bluejays, sparrows and an occasional starling.

At a friend's bird feeder in the summertime we used to see some rare birds, including the rose-breasted grosbeak. You know what a grosbeak is. It is a bigmouth, that's what it is, literally.

People put up bird feeders more for their own enjoyment than for the birds' enjoyment.

I have a theory that when new car sales set a record in any one year the next two or three years are bound to have lower sales because very few people buy a new car every year. I am probably wrong about this, too.

The only thing worse than a forgetful person is a person who never forgets anything, anything at all. Like a boisterous party in 1933.

It is very disillusioning to watch a TV show seen regularly by one of your bosses, only to discover it is worse than the show you would ordinarily watch at that same time. It doesn't enhance your respect for the boss.

When I asked whatever had become of Canarsie, N. J., I didn't know there never was a Canarsie, N. J., and that Canarsie is a section of Brooklyn, N. Y. Our friend Irwin H. Solomon straightened me out on this.

Canarsie is a section of Brooklyn, just as Flatbush and Greenpoint are. In Brooklyn they pronounce Greenpoint "Greenpernt."

Odd Facts

A ball of steel, strange as it may seem, will bounce higher than a ball of rubber. Steel is one of the most perfectly elastic solids, while rubber is actually rather poor in elasticity. It can be stretched or compressed rather easily, but does not return accurately to its original size.

The tallest monument in the world is the Gateway Arch, which was completed in St. Louis in 1965, to commemorate the westward expansion after the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. It is a sweeping arch spanning 630 feet and rising to 630 feet.

'Do You Suppose The Audience Will Believe It?'

The Making Of A Precedent

By Victor Riesel

NEW ROCHELLE — Despite the political weather, a hot front has moved north.

Teams of FBI agents are fanning out through this handsome suburban community well peopled by handsomely incomed families. The special agents are seeking "to determine whether the high wage construction unions are creating a pattern of discrimination against Negroes seeking jobs" in the lush building fields here.

Victor Riesel

Government sources emphatically deny they are actually investigating the construction unions. But it is difficult to discern the difference between an investigation of the local plumbers, electricians and sheet metal workers and a "search" for a pattern.

Fact is that the Dept. of Justice, for the first time, has directed the FBI to gather the facts on such a combination of unions which are all but closed to Negro craftsmen.

A powerful precedent could be set here if the FBI discovers that the three unions, Local 86, Plumbers; Local 38, Sheet Metal Workers; and Local 501 of the Electricians Brotherhood are violating Title Seven of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

THINGS COULD get tough for these mighty stubborn unions. The Justice Dept., working with the Dept. of Labor could practically dismantle the unions by using the courts as a hammer and the Labor Dept. as a petard to crack the membership lists wide open.

Should this happen here, New Rochelle would take its place in the roster of battles fought during the Negro revolution. What the Negroes want now is on the job training, listing on the conduit of membership, namely the apprenticeship rolls — and later equal membership with a Class A book.

The site of battle is a $25 million "mall" — a combination urban renewal project and shopping center. Though the mall has not gotten a full headline treatment as it would have two years ago, it is getting the full civil rights treatment.

Negro leaders, clergymen and other demonstrators are throwing themselves in front of trucks, sitting down in construction "alley" driveways and are delaying the basic work needed if the project is to swing into full operation when warm weather comes.

PICKETS are being hauled away by police. Arrests are mounting.

Into the battle has come a Congressman who suffers not from the malady of so many others. He's headline-shy, having presided over so many of them in New York and Paris. He's 41 year old Ogden Reid, former publisher of the old Herald Tribune and now Republican Representative from the 26th Congressional District (Westchester). He has been attempting to ease the battle. And when the three unions insisted on keeping their rosters tighter than a tax man's heart, pressure was put on the union's international leaders in Washington. As usual they had about as much influence amongst the autonomous locals as Bob Kennedy would have in Jackson, Miss.

Reid, who learned the trade covering the Quai d'Orsay and the Elysee Palace, tried his hand at personal diplomacy here in the heart of his district. He's making some progress, but not enough for the Negro community. It went to the Dept. of Justice which then directed J. Edgar Hoover to send in his teams.

THE FBI need not find an actual "pattern of discrimination." They have been instructed to learn if there is labor action which could "lead" to such a pattern.

The law says that there shall be no such pattern of discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin by any labor union or employer.

If such a pattern is disclosed here, there is no doubt that the Justice Dept. will then direct FBI teams to go into other heavy construction areas. This would open a vast front. The government itself signs some 30,000 contracts. About 25 per cent of the government's vast annual expenditures go into construction. Millions of jobs are involved in this public sector alone. Most of the manpower is supplied by the "sister" locals of the three now being scanned for patterns.

So keep your eyes on this satellite town. The Justice Dept., after the FBI reports are in, may thrust labor unions into an entirely new orbit.

Last week I had some business that took me to the Columbiana County Courthouse at Lisbon.

I visited the map room and the engineer's office and board of commissioners.

I have been there a number of times in the last six years, but I would like to take my hat off to the board of commissioners — and I am a Democrat — for the time and courtesy which they showed me while I discussed my business with them. And also for taking time to come down on Valley Ave. and Dry Run Alley and look over the roads.

I hope everybody receives the same friendly treatment that these officials showed toward me.

Good Timing

By James Marlow

LBJ Softens Kennedy Action

WASHINGTON

It might have been just a presidential coincidence, but the timing was terrific.

There is no doubt Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D—N.Y., gets in President Johnson's hair with what he says on Vietnam. But, while earlier this year he must have made it look windblown, Thursday he blew a gale.

Yet before the day was over Kennedy, who might have had the front pages to himself, had to share them with Johnson who butted in not once but twice.

Earlier this year, while skipping around Western Europe, Kennedy got worldwide attention with some statements he made, like saying the next few weeks would be critical in the war.

He was reported saying secret talks were going on. But he said this wasn't what he had said. He said contacts were being made. The White House said it knew nothing special about the next few weeks. And Johnson said he knew of no serious efforts by Hanoi to end the war.

THEN, A sensation. Newsweek magazine must have rocked Johnson with a story saying Kennedy, while in Paris, got a peace-feeler from North Vietnam. Asked about it, Kennedy at first refused to comment.

Naturally, this raised a number of questions, one above all: Wouldn't it be strange if Kennedy could start the peace ball rolling and Johnson couldn't? Kennedy came home and saw Johnson.

After that get-together Kennedy said he hadn't brought any peace feeler. And more reports, unverified, said Johnson had bawled him out. Not long after that Kennedy let it be known he was preparing a major speech on Vietnam.

Thursday was the day he chose to deliver it. He was a cinch to make front pages. Then something happened. Maybe it was only a coincidence. But Johnson suddenly called a news conference a few hours before Kennedy's talk.

Johnson quickly announced the Soviet Union, through Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, had agreed to discuss halting the arms race. This could have been the only reason for calling in the newsmen.

But one of them, and it was certainly a convenient time for Johnson to be asked the question, raised a point about peace with Vietnam. And Johnson at once made it clear there would be no let-up in the pressure on Hanoi.

But Kennedy's whole speech was to be a proposal that U.S. bombing stop for a while to see if North Vietnam wanted to talk peace. Now Johnson had answered him before Kennedy could start. Was this just a coincidence?

Later in the day a newsman told Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, "some suspicious people" wondered if Johnson had not called the news conference and made the war statement to take the play away from Kennedy.

CHRISTIAN expressed innocence. And later in the day Kennedy made his speech, but had hardly started before Sen. Henry Jackson, D—Wash., a Johnson supporter on Vietnam, made public a letter from the President.

In the letter Johnson said the bombing had been effective and would continue. Was this a coincidence, too? The timing couldn't have been better, from Johnson's viewpoint.

Here he was throwing cold water on Kennedy's speech before Kennedy could finish it. Johnson's letter, dated March 1, reached Jackson at almost the moment when Kennedy began speaking.

Kennedy, it turned out, had sent a copy of his speech before he made it to the White House, but Christian said Johnson hadn't seen it and that it was Jackson who made the decision on when to make the letter public.

Thus twice in one day Johnson answered Kennedy without anyone being able to say positively Johnson was replying to Kennedy at all. In fact, Christian said the White House would have no comment on Kennedy's speech.

I have a theory that when new car sales set a record in any one year the next two or three years are bound to have lower sales because very few people buy a new car every year. I am probably wrong about this, too.

The only thing worse than a forgetful person is a person who never forgets anything, anything at all. Like a boisterous party in 1933.

It is very disillusioning to watch a TV show seen regularly by one of your bosses, only to discover it is worse than the show you would ordinarily watch at that same time. It doesn't enhance your respect for the boss.

When I asked whatever had become of Canarsie, N. J., I didn't know there never was a Canarsie, N. J., and that Canarsie is a section of Brooklyn, N. Y. Our friend Irwin H. Solomon straightened me out on this.

Canarsie is a section of Brooklyn, just as Flatbush and Greenpoint are. In Brooklyn they pronounce Greenpoint "Greenpernt."

Like that passenger who wanted to get off the bus at Pearl and Boyle Sts. He told the bus driver, "Let me off at Poyle and Berl."

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Odd Facts

A ball of steel, strange as it may seem, will bounce higher than a ball of rubber. Steel is one of the most perfectly elastic solids, while rubber is actually rather poor in elasticity. It can be stretched or compressed rather easily, but does not return accurately to its original size.

The tallest monument in the world is the Gateway Arch, which was completed in St. Louis in 1965, to commemorate the westward expansion after the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. It is a sweeping arch spanning 630 feet and rising to 630 feet.

'Do You Suppose The Audience Will Believe It?'

The Making Of A Precedent

By Victor Riesel

NEW ROCHELLE — Despite the political weather, a hot front has moved north.

Teams of FBI agents are fanning out through this handsome suburban community well peopled by handsomely incomed families. The special agents are seeking "to determine whether the high wage construction unions are creating a pattern of discrimination against Negroes seeking jobs" in the lush building fields here.

Victor Riesel

Government sources emphatically deny they are actually investigating the construction unions. But it is difficult to discern the difference between an investigation of the local plumbers, electricians and sheet metal workers and a "search" for a pattern.

Fact is that the Dept. of Justice, for the first time, has directed the FBI to gather the facts on such a combination of unions which are all but closed to Negro craftsmen.

A powerful precedent could be set here if the FBI discovers that the three unions, Local 86, Plumbers; Local 38, Sheet Metal Workers; and Local 501 of the Electricians Brotherhood are violating Title Seven of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

THINGS COULD get tough for these mighty stubborn unions. The Justice Dept., working with the Dept. of Labor could practically dismantle the unions by using the courts as a hammer and the Labor Dept. as a petard to crack the membership lists wide open.

Should this happen here, New Rochelle would take its place in the roster of battles fought during the Negro revolution. What the Negroes want now is on the job training, listing on the conduit of membership, namely the apprenticeship rolls — and later equal membership with a Class A book.

The site of battle is a $25 million "mall" — a combination urban renewal project and shopping center. Though the mall has not gotten a full headline treatment as it would have two years ago, it is getting the full civil rights treatment.

Negro leaders, clergymen and other demonstrators are throwing themselves in front of trucks, sitting down in construction "alley" driveways and are delaying the basic work needed if the project is to swing into full operation when warm weather comes.

PICKETS are being hauled away by police. Arrests are mounting.

Into the battle has come a Congressman who suffers not from the malady of so many others. He's headline-shy, having presided over so many of them in New York and Paris. He's 41 year old Ogden Reid, former publisher of the old Herald Tribune and now Republican Representative from the 26th Congressional District (Westchester). He has been attempting to ease the battle. And when the three unions insisted on keeping their rosters tighter than a tax man's heart, pressure was put on the union's international leaders in Washington. As usual they had about as much influence amongst the autonomous locals as Bob Kennedy would have in Jackson, Miss.

Reid, who learned the trade covering the Quai d'Orsay and the Elysee Palace, tried his hand at personal diplomacy here in the heart of his district. He's making some progress, but not enough for the Negro community. It went to the Dept. of Justice which then directed J. Edgar Hoover to send in his teams.

THE FBI need not find an actual "pattern of discrimination." They have been instructed to learn if there is labor action which could "lead" to such a pattern.

The law says that there shall be no such pattern of discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin by any labor union or employer.

If such a pattern is disclosed here, there is no doubt that the Justice Dept. will then direct FBI teams to go into other heavy construction areas. This would open a vast front. The government itself signs some 30,000 contracts. About 25 per cent of the government's vast annual expenditures go into construction. Millions of jobs are involved in this public sector alone. Most of the manpower is supplied by the "sister" locals of the three now being scanned for patterns.

So keep your eyes on this satellite town. The Justice Dept., after the FBI reports are in, may thrust labor unions into an entirely new orbit.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Last week I had some business that took me to the Columbiana County Courthouse at Lisbon.

I visited the map room and the engineer's office and board of commissioners.

I have been there a number of times in the last six years, but I would like to take my hat off to the board of commissioners — and I am a Democrat — for the time and courtesy which they showed me while I discussed my business with them. And also for taking time to come down on Valley Ave. and Dry Run Alley and look over the roads.

I hope everybody receives the same friendly treatment that these officials showed toward me.

"Maybe it's not just 'the war in Vietnam'—maybe it's that 'war', in general, has become 'unpopular'!"

Good Timing

By James Marlow

LBJ Softens Kennedy Action

WASHINGTON

It might have been just a presidential coincidence, but the timing was terrific.

There is no doubt Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D—N.Y., gets in President Johnson's hair with what he says on Vietnam. But, while earlier this year he must have made it look windblown, Thursday he blew a gale.

Yet before the day was over Kennedy, who might have had the front pages to himself, had to share them with Johnson who butted in not once but twice.

Earlier this year, while skipping around Western Europe, Kennedy got worldwide attention with some statements he made, like saying the next few weeks would be critical in the war.

He was reported saying secret talks were going on. But he said this wasn't what he had said. He said contacts were being made. The White House said it knew nothing special about the next few weeks. And Johnson said he knew of no serious efforts by Hanoi to end the war.

THEN, A sensation. Newsweek magazine must have rocked Johnson with a story saying Kennedy, while in Paris, got a peace-feeler from North Vietnam. Asked about it, Kennedy at first refused to comment.

Naturally, this raised a number of questions, one above all: Wouldn't it be strange if Kennedy could start the peace ball rolling and Johnson couldn't? Kennedy came home and saw Johnson.

After that get-together Kennedy said he hadn't brought any peace feeler. And more reports, unverified, said Johnson had bawled him out. Not long after that Kennedy let it be known he was preparing a major speech on Vietnam.

Thursday was the day he chose to deliver it. He was a cinch to make front pages. Then something happened. Maybe it was only a coincidence. But Johnson suddenly called a news conference a few hours before Kennedy's talk.

Johnson quickly announced the Soviet Union, through Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, had agreed to discuss halting the arms race. This could have been the only reason for calling in the newsmen.

But one of them, and it was certainly a convenient time for Johnson to be asked the question, raised a point about peace with Vietnam. And Johnson at once made it clear there would be no let-up in the pressure on Hanoi.

But Kennedy's whole speech was to be a proposal that U.S. bombing stop for a while to see if North Vietnam wanted to talk peace. Now Johnson had answered him before Kennedy could start. Was this just a coincidence?

Later in the day a newsman told Johnson's press secretary, George Christian, "some suspicious people" wondered if Johnson had not called the news conference and made the war statement to take the play away from Kennedy.

CHRISTIAN expressed innocence. And later in the day Kennedy made his speech, but had hardly started before Sen. Henry Jackson, D—Wash., a Johnson supporter on Vietnam, made public a letter from the President.

In the letter Johnson said the bombing had been effective and would continue. Was this a coincidence, too? The timing couldn't have been better, from Johnson's viewpoint.

Here he was throwing cold water on Kennedy's speech before Kennedy could finish it. Johnson's letter, dated March 1, reached Jackson at almost the moment when Kennedy began speaking.

Kennedy, it turned out, had sent a copy of his speech before he made it to the White House, but Christian said Johnson hadn't seen it and that it was Jackson who made the decision on when to make the letter public.

Thus twice in one day Johnson answered Kennedy without anyone being able to say positively Johnson was replying to Kennedy at all. In fact, Christian said the White House would have no comment on Kennedy's speech.

Raises OK'd For Ohioville Road Crews

Road workers in Ohioville Borough were awarded a 20-cent-an-hour raise, retroactive to Jan. 1 when Council met Thursday night.

Laborers, who formerly received $1.55 an hour, will now receive $1.75. Operators who had been paid $1.70 hourly were raised to $1.90 and foremen who got $1.80 hourly will now be paid $2.

The salary of Mrs. Emily Carroll, borough secretary, was advanced $25 monthly.

Council approved a $53,201 budget for 1967 on final reading and re-enacted the $3 per capita tax.

An ordinance was adopted raising the milleage from seven to 11 mills, covering raises for road workers, clerk clerical and repayment for a loan for blacktopping the Midland View area.

E. Paul Dawson, president, named Mayor Elmer R. Gifford, Michael Hohan and George Daniels Sr. to a committee to locate in the borough a 100-200 acre tract of farm land that might be utilized by the Beaver County Community College. The committee will then report their findings to the college committee.

Council voted to install a new aluminum sign on the Ohioville Borough Building, replacing the faded, handpainted one now in use.

Leo LeFebvre and James Dunlap of Ohioville were appointed borough patrolmen. They had been serving as part-time policemen. Mayor Gifford's police report revealed 27 complaints and 12 auto violations were investigated in February.

Council approved obtaining a $3,000 loan — from Beaver Trust Co., Midland branch, to meet current expenses until tax receipts are in April or May.

Bills totaling $1,059 were approved for payment.

father, Justice Tom C. Clark, has decided to resign from the Supreme Court bench to avoid possible conflicts of interest. Justice Clark, a 17-year court veteran, once was attorney general himself.

Earlier, the Senate voted 71 to 7 against a proposal to put a three-hour limit on floor speeches by its members. Also killed on a 69-13 vote was a plan designed to prevent filibusters against a motion to take up a bill.

The proposals were in amendments offered by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., to the congressional reorganization bill.

In the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member, sharply questioned administration officials on Johnson's Social Security proposals.

John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, insisted the limit in the payroll tax to pay for Social Security has not been reached. The administration measure would raise the minimum tax from this year's $290.41 to $626.40 by 1987.

"Can I get satisfaction that you are starting to get a little concerned, too?" Byrnes asked HEW Undersecretary Wilbur J. Cohen. Cohen replied, "Yes."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said of prospective U.S.- Soviet talks on ending the atomic arms race: "It's about time the world came to its senses and realizes we can spend the money for more constructive purposes."

Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sounded a cautionary note about such talks, saying "it depends on how effectively it is pursued and the wisdom of the negotiators."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent white nylon from yellowing?

A.—By using bluing when laundering your nylon shirts, blouses, underthings, and the like.

Q.—How can I get rid of the fishy odor when I am washing the dishes, silver, and pans after a fish meal?

A.—Throw about a teaspoonful of dry mustard into the washing water, and this will obliterate the fish odor completely and will not leave a residual mustard taste either.

Raises OK'd For Ohioville Road Crews

Road workers in Ohioville Borough were awarded a 20-cent-an-hour raise, retroactive to Jan. 1 when Council met Thursday night.

Laborers, who formerly received $1.55 an hour, will now receive $1.75. Operators who had been paid $1.70 hourly were raised to $1.90 and foremen who got $1.80 hourly will now be paid $2.

The salary of Mrs. Emily Carroll, borough secretary, was advanced $25 monthly.

Council approved a $53,201 budget for 1967 on final reading and re-enacted the $3 per capita tax.

An ordinance was adopted raising the milleage from seven to 11 mills, covering raises for road workers, clerk clerical and repayment for a loan for blacktopping the Midland View area.

E. Paul Dawson, president, named Mayor Elmer R. Gifford, Michael Hohan and George Daniels Sr. to a committee to locate in the borough a 100-200 acre tract of farm land that might be utilized by the Beaver County Community College. The committee will then report their findings to the college committee.

Council voted to install a new aluminum sign on the Ohioville Borough Building, replacing the faded, handpainted one now in use.

Leo LeFebvre and James Dunlap of Ohioville were appointed borough patrolmen. They had been serving as part-time policemen. Mayor Gifford's police report revealed 27 complaints and 12 auto violations were investigated in February.

Council approved obtaining a $3,000 loan — from Beaver Trust Co., Midland branch, to meet current expenses until tax receipts are in April or May.

Bills totaling $1,059 were approved for payment.

Michigan State and Baylor will meet in football for the first time in 1968. The game will be played at East Lansing.

father, Justice Tom C. Clark, has decided to resign from the Supreme Court bench to avoid possible conflicts of interest. Justice Clark, a 17-year court veteran, once was attorney general himself.

Earlier, the Senate voted 71 to 7 against a proposal to put a three-hour limit on floor speeches by its members. Also killed on a 69-13 vote was a plan designed to prevent filibusters against a motion to take up a bill.

The proposals were in amendments offered by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., to the congressional reorganization bill.

In the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member, sharply questioned administration officials on Johnson's Social Security proposals.

John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare, insisted the limit in the payroll tax to pay for Social Security has not been reached. The administration measure would raise the minimum tax from this year's $290.41 to $626.40 by 1987.

"Can I get satisfaction that you are starting to get a little concerned, too?" Byrnes asked HEW Undersecretary Wilbur J. Cohen. Cohen replied, "Yes."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said of prospective U.S.-Soviet talks on ending the atomic arms race: "It's about time the world came to its senses and realizes we can spend the money for more constructive purposes."

Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sounded a cautionary note about such talks, saying "it depends on how effectively it is pursued and the wisdom of the negotiators."

vin's son, carried TV sets, radios, tape recorders and other material into the Melvin home from the Melvin car.

Parsons said this was about 4 a.m. Nov. 23 after Mrs. Melvin had driven to Wellsville to get Murray in response to a telephone call.

Brents mother, Mrs. Grace Parsons, testified she was at the Melvin home the same morning and saw her son and Joe carry the items into the house.

Five of the items James recovered were in the Parsons home. Brent said Murray gave them to him. The sixth item, a stereo, was recovered in a vacant house. Brent said he had sold it.

Young Parsons has pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property. So has Murray, but he gave a different account.

He said he was unable to hitchhike a ride home from Wellsville about 12:30 a.m. Nov. 23 and called for someone to come and get him. He said his mother came for him and he fell asleep and can't remember getting out of the car.

Both he and his mother said they didn't know anything of a burglary and there was no stolen merchandise in the car.

Murray said young Parsons came to his house two or three days after this and asked him to help carry some stuff into the Parsons house. Murray said he helped Brent carry televisions and other equipment which was on the ground by a truck parked in Parsons yard. He said Brent told him the items came from Wellsville.

The prosecutor called one witness after another yesterday in an effort to contradict testimony of Murray and his mother.

Two of Murray's former employers testified as to the periods he worked for them. This testimony conflicted with what Murray told the jury.

Officer Charles Amato of Wellsville testified he did not take part in the questioning of Murray at the County Jail. Murray said he had and that Amato told him "they'd drop the charge against my mother if I confessed."

James and James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, testified Mrs. Melvin at first denied having gone to Wellsville to pick up Joe. Primm said he confronted her with what he had learned from her son and she then admitted having gone to get him.

Judge Sharp late Thursday morning denied defense counsel's motion that the court poll the jury to learn if anyone had read a newspaper story headed "Was No Loot In My Car, Woman Declares At Trial" which appeared on Page 1 of Wednesday's issue of the East Liverpool Review.

Lang said it was his opinion the headline and story were inflammatory and would prejudice the jurors against his client had they read it. He asked that the court declare a mistrial if the poll revealed anyone read the account.

Two Quizzed About School Bomb Threat

At least two older youths have been questioned in connection with bomb threats at Beaver Local High School this week, but no charges have been filed.

Sheriff's deputies Thursday quizzed two youths for possible links to the three threats at Beaver Local this week.

Some 380 students were evacuated from East Junior High School early Thursday afternoon when a telephone call was received at 12:50 p.m. from what was apparently a young boy saying there was a bomb in the building.

City police and firemen checked the building, and the students returned about 25 minutes later.

Beaver Local has had about seven such threats since the start of the fall term — three so far this week.

Senior Citizens Plan Hat Parade

Plans were made for an Easter hat parade March 16 when members of the Senior Citizens Group met Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. William Osborn, president, presided.

On March 12 the choir will sing at the Wellsville First Methodist Church. The Ohio quarterly meeting of the Northeastern Conference of the movement will be held March 15 at Heck's Restaurant, Columbiana.

It was announced that the Rev. Ross D. Salisbury Jr. will be the speaker at the Thursday noon Lenten services next week at the First Methodist Church.

Thirty of the citizens attended the performance of "The Sound of Music" Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

Humorous readings were presented yesterday by Mrs. Edith Nichols. The corsage was received by Mrs. Matilda Chapman.

In District 2

Water Project Plans Advanced

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners voted Thursday to have final design plans prepared for a Lisbon area water project in County Water and Sewer District 2.

They also asked Salem area residents to let them know their feelings about a proposed sewage project north and northeast of the city.

Quicksall & Associates of New Philadelphia was authorized to proceed with the Lisbon planning at an approximate cost of $14,800.

This is the project which William McKenna, a member of Quicksall & Associates and former Lisbon resident, reviewed for Council last June. A standpipe or elevated storage tank is proposed for village - owned land on Route 45, north of Lisbon. It would be supplied from the existing water supply to serve industries and homes on the hill.

Council last July authorized the Board of Public Affairs to cooperate with the county commissioners in a water and sewage treatment service to Center Township areas close to town.

The commissioners said they have reviewed preliminary planning done on County Water and Sewer District 2 prior to ordering final design plans for the various projects.

Chairman Charles J. Gause said the board agrees that areas as outlined for improvement should be treated as separate construction projects and that residents of each area should advise the board if they desire a priority in the program.

Gause said the first sewage project listed in the report is located north and northeast of Salem. He said it would serve part of Route 62, Old Farm Rd., Manor Ave., Brookview Ave., Parkview Ave., Highland East, Highland West, Highland Ave., Painter Rd., Union Ave., Sunset Blvd., Westview, Eastview and Shadyland.

Residents in this area are invited to express their wishes for or against the proposed improvement to the commissioners before April 1.

The commissioners employed Paul Otto of Leetonia R.D. 1 as a County Welfare Department caseworker at $330 a month and Mrs. Madelon Bowser of Lisbon as a retarded children's school bus driver at $198 a month, succeeding Steve Korode of Lisbon, who resigned.

The city of Wellsville was paid $33.50 for 67 stray dogs destroyed in February.

Commissioners approved an expense of approximately $350 for four Welfare Department workers to attend the central regional conference of the Child Welfare League of America March 16-18 at Cleveland.

Cook More, Save More, Housewives Are Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman suggests that housewives would find their food bills considerably lower if they did more of their own cooking.

Freeman repeated to the Senate Agriculture Committee Thursday what housewives and farmers have been saying for years: Food costs have risen 35 per cent in 20 years while farm prices actually have dropped.

But, Freeman explained, taxes, wages, promotion, packaging and built-in labor costs of many prepared foods, such as TV dinners, account for most of the food cost increase.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A card Republicans reportedly plan to send to taxpayers next month saying "many unhappy returns" has made Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey unhappy.

"This might strike you as a funny play on words, but I doubt that your brand of humor will strike a responsive chord among the people who receive it," Bailey telegraphed GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

Bailey contends the card is a "mean interpretation" of income taxes which he says help pay for new roads, new schools, new jobs, the national defense and even the salaries of GOP congressmen.

Bliss denied knowing what Bailey was talking about.

More Now May Be Eligible In County Food Stamp Plan

LISBON — Columbiana County residents ineligible for the federal food stamp program because they had over $500 in savings may be eligible now, according to Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director.

He said the liquid assets provision of the program was increased March 1 from $500 to $1,000.

Hepp said this means that a household of one person can have up to $1,000 in savings—stocks, bonds or bank account—and still meet the financial requirement on the application.

A family of two or more people can have up to $1,500 in assets, Hepp said.

The change will benefit persons who are on social security or other forms of pension and have saved over $500 for sickness and other emergencies. These persons had to be refused participation previously.

Hepp advised those people who were refused to make reapplication. This may be done in person at the following locations:

County Welfare Building, E. Washington St., Lisbon, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

East Liverpool City Building, 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays and Fridays.

Wellsville City Building, 9 to noon, Tuesdays.

Salem City Building, 9 to 11 a.m., Tuesdays and Thursdays.

included are compulsory motor vehicle inspection each year and driver education for all new drivers under age 18. Driver education courses in high schools would be financed from increases in license fees.

Other proposals would require separate examination for motorcycle operation, require goggles and helmets on motorcycle operators, permit limited use of unmarked police cars, remove enforcement restrictions with regard to radar warning signs, permit lifetime driver license revocation, and toughen the state's 12-point license suspension plan.

Both houses approved a resolution congratulating the University of Toledo's basketball team for winning the Mid-American Conference title although it touched off some controversy in the House.

House Minority Leader Frank R. Pokorny D-57 Independence, Cuyahoga said he objected not to the resolution itself but because it violated a previous agreement not to introduce "superfluous resolutions."

Pokorny said he decided not to introduce a resolution commending Maple Heights High School for winning the state wrestling championship because of what he believed to be understood policy.

vin's son, carried TV sets, radios, tape recorders and other material into the Melvin home from the Melvin car.

Parsons said this was about 4 a.m. Nov. 23 after Mrs. Melvin had driven to Wellsville to get Murray in response to a telephone call.

Brents mother, Mrs. Grace Parsons, testified she was at the Melvin home the same morning and saw her son and Joe carry the items into the house.

Five of the items James recovered were in the Parsons home. Brent said Murray gave them to him. The sixth item, a stereo, was recovered in a vacant house. Brent said he had sold it.

Young Parsons has pleaded guilty to receiving and concealing stolen property. So has Murray, but he gave a different account.

He said he was unable to hitchhike a ride home from Wellsville about 12:30 a.m. Nov. 23 and called for someone to come and get him. He said his mother came for him and he fell asleep and can't remember getting out of the car.

Both he and his mother said they didn't know anything of a burglary and there was no stolen merchandise in the car.

Murray said young Parsons came to his house two or three days after this and asked him to help carry some stuff into the Parsons house. Murray said he helped Brent carry televisions and other equipment which was on the ground by a truck parked in Parsons yard. He said Brent told him the items came from Wellsville.

The prosecutor called one witness after another yesterday in an effort to contradict testimony of Murray and his mother.

Two of Murray's former employers testified as to the periods he worked for them. This testimony conflicted with what Murray told the jury.

Officer Charles Amato of Wellsville testified he did not take part in the questioning of Murray at the County Jail. Murray said he had and that Amato told him "they'd drop the charge against my mother if I confessed."

James and James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, testified Mrs. Melvin at first denied having gone to Wellsville to pick up Joe. Primm said he confronted her with what he had learned from her son and she then admitted having gone to get him.

Judge Sharp late Thursday morning denied defense counsel's motion that the court poll the jury to learn if anyone had read a newspaper story headed "Was No Loot In My Car, Woman Declares At Trial" which appeared on Page 1 of Wednesday's issue of the East Liverpool Review.

Lang said it was his opinion the headline and story were inflammatory and would prejudice the jurors against his client had they read it. He asked that the court declare a mistrial if the poll revealed anyone read the account.

Two Quizzed About School Bomb Threat

At least two older youths have been questioned in connection with bomb threats at Beaver Local High School this week, but no charges have been filed.

Sheriff's deputies Thursday quizzed two youths for possible links to the three threats at Beaver Local this week.

Some 380 students were evacuated from East Junior High School early Thursday afternoon when a telephone call was received at 12:50 p.m. from what was apparently a young boy saying there was a bomb in the building.

City police and firemen checked the building, and the students returned about 25 minutes later.

Beaver Local has had about seven such threats since the start of the fall term — three so far this week.

Senior Citizens Plan Hat Parade

Plans were made for an Easter hat parade March 16 when members of the Senior Citizens Group met Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. William Osborn, president, presided.

On March 12 the choir will sing at the Wellsville First Methodist Church. The Ohio quarterly meeting of the Northeastern Conference of the movement will be held March 15 at Heck's Restaurant, Columbiana.

It was announced that the Rev. Ross D. Salisbury Jr. will be the speaker at the Thursday noon Lenten services next week at the First Methodist Church.

Thirty of the citizens attended the performance of "The Sound of Music" Wednesday at Pittsburgh.

Humorous readings were presented yesterday by Mrs. Edith Nichols. The corsage was received by Mrs. Matilda Chapman.

In District 2

Water Project Plans Advanced

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners voted Thursday to have final design plans prepared for a Lisbon area water project in County Water and Sewer District 2.

They also asked Salem area residents to let them know their feelings about a proposed sewage project north and northeast of the city.

Quicksall & Associates of New Philadelphia was authorized to proceed with the Lisbon planning at an approximate cost of $14,800.

This is the project which William McKenna, a member of Quicksall & Associates and former Lisbon resident, reviewed for Council last June. A standpipe or elevated storage tank is proposed for village - owned land on Route 45, north of Lisbon. It would be supplied from the existing water supply to serve industries and homes on the hill.

Council last July authorized the Board of Public Affairs to cooperate with the county commissioners in a water and sewage treatment service to Center Township areas close to town.

The commissioners said they have reviewed preliminary planning done on County Water and Sewer District 2 prior to ordering final design plans for the various projects.

Chairman Charles J. Gause said the board agrees that areas as outlined for improvement should be treated as separate construction projects and that residents of each area should advise the board if they desire a priority in the program.

Gause said the first sewage project listed in the report is located north and northeast of Salem. He said it would serve part of Route 62, Old Farm Rd., Manor Ave., Brookview Ave., Parkview Ave., Highland East, Highland West, Highland Ave., Painter Rd., Union Ave., Sunset Blvd., Westview, Eastview and Shadyland.

Residents in this area are invited to express their wishes for or against the proposed improvement to the commissioners before April 1.

The commissioners employed Paul Otto of Leetonia R.D. 1 as a County Welfare Department caseworker at $330 a month and Mrs. Madelon Bowser of Lisbon as a retarded children's school bus driver at $198 a month, succeeding Steve Korode of Lisbon, who resigned.

The city of Wellsville was paid $33.50 for 67 stray dogs destroyed in February.

Commissioners approved an expense of approximately $350 for four Welfare Department workers to attend the central regional conference of the Child Welfare League of America March 16-18 at Cleveland.

Cook More, Save More, Housewives Are Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman suggests that housewives would find their food bills considerably lower if they did more of their own cooking.

Freeman repeated to the Senate Agriculture Committee Thursday what housewives and farmers have been saying for years: Food costs have risen 35 per cent in 20 years while farm prices actually have dropped.

But, Freeman explained, taxes, wages, promotion, packaging and built-in labor costs of many prepared foods, such as TV dinners, account for most of the food cost increase.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A card Republicans reportedly plan to send to taxpayers next month saying "many unhappy returns" has made Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey unhappy.

"This might strike you as a funny play on words, but I doubt that your brand of humor will strike a responsive chord among the people who receive it," Bailey telegraphed GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

Bailey contends the card is a "mean interpretation" of income taxes which he says help pay for new roads, new schools, new jobs, the national defense and even the salaries of GOP congressmen.

Bliss denied knowing what Bailey was talking about.

More Now May Be Eligible In County Food Stamp Plan

LISBON — Columbiana County residents ineligible for the federal food stamp program because they had over $500 in savings may be eligible now, according to Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director.

He said the liquid assets provision of the program was increased March 1 from $500 to $1,000.

Hepp said this means that a household of one person can have up to $1,000 in savings—stocks, bonds or bank account—and still meet the financial requirement on the application.

A family of two or more people can have up to $1,500 in assets, Hepp said.

The change will benefit persons who are on social security or other forms of pension and have saved over $500 for sickness and other emergencies. These persons had to be refused participation previously.

Hepp advised those people who were refused to make reapplication. This may be done in person at the following locations:

County Welfare Building, E. Washington St., Lisbon, 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

East Liverpool City Building, 9 to 11 a.m. Tuesdays and Fridays.

Wellsville City Building, 9 to noon, Tuesdays.

included are compulsory motor vehicle inspection each year and driver education for all new drivers under age 18. Driver education courses in high schools would be financed from increases in license fees.

Other proposals would require separate examination for motorcycle operation, require goggles and helmets on motorcycle operators, permit limited use of unmarked police cars, remove enforcement restrictions with regard to radar warning signs, permit lifetime driver license revocation, and toughen the state's 12-point license suspension plan.

Both houses approved a resolution congratulating the University of Toledo's basketball team for winning the Mid-American Conference title although it touched off some controversy in the House.

House Minority Leader Frank R. Pokorny D-57 Independence, Cuyahoga said he objected not to the resolution itself but because it violated a previous agreement not to introduce "superfluous resolutions."

Pokorny said he decided not to introduce a resolution commending Maple Heights High School for winning the state wrestling championship because of what he believed to be understood policy.

Face 3-Day Extension Of Session

W. Va. Legislators Work On Substitute Tax Bill

CHARLESTON (AP) — Facing an almost certain three-day extension of the 60-day session, West Virginia legislative leaders today worked behind the scenes on a stubstitute tax bill to raise some $20 million in new revenue and help balance the budget.

Senate leaders said "the membership is reconciled" to extending the session from March 11 probably into the afternoon of March 14.

"We don't have any money yet and we've got to find it before we can work on the budget bill," said Senate President Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette. The three-day extension would be limited to budget matters, he said.

And on a money-related issue the Senate was to vote today on whether to permit dog racing tracks in the state with parimutuel betting, hailed as "a financial bonanza."

Floor voting on amendments Thursday indicated passage was unlikely today.

After heavy Senate amending, the dog track bill was moved into position for a vote today carrying dog racing on a county option basis and not to be built within 50 miles of an existing horse track.

Senate Majority Leader William A. Moreland, D-Monongalia, defended the dog racing bill during debate Thursday, linking it with the state's need for more money.

Moreland said he could not estimate how much revenue dog racing would produce, but he called it "a financial bonanza" that would help the state in "looking for revenue and . . . attracting more tourists to this state."

The Senate Finance Committee had attempted to erase an amendment proposed by the Judiciary Committee creating the 50-mile zone around a horse track where no dog racing tracks could be built.

The finance move—supported by Senate Democratic leadership — failed on 17-14 a standup vote.

Judiciary chairman William T. Brotherton Jr., D-Kanawha, was successful with an amendment to assure that the current local option provision that now exists in the horse racing statute would remain in the dog track bill.

On tax matters, the Senate defeat Wednesday of the gross margin tax bill — keystone to the Democratic leadership's $23 million tax revision program—created a flurry of activity the past two days to find ways to make up the loss.

House and Senate Finance committees have come up with similar, but not identical taxing measures.

House Finance Chairman Ivor F. Boiarsky, D-Kanawha, said Thursday night his committee has found a possible tax package that could raise $20 million in new revenue.

The proposed bill would raise the gross sales tax rate on manufacturing from .4 to .7 per cent and bring professional people under the law at a 1.05 per cent rate. Professional groups such as doctors and lawyers now are exempt from the gross sales tax.

In addition, Boiarsky said a law could be enacted imposing a 2 per cent corporate net income tax that would not allow a credit for gross sales tax payments. Other corporate net income proposals would allow the credit.

Included in the package would be revision of the transportation privilege tax. Boiarsky hoped to have the package ready for review sometime today.

On the Senate side, Moreland said that "unless something breaks rapidly, we will have to stay here until we get a balanced budget."

"In other Thursday action, bills were passed and sent to the governor to sharply cut fines for overweight trucks and to give merchants the right to detain suspected shoplifters for up to one-half hour without fear of a damage suit from the person detained.

The House passed 100-0 the truck weight bill, reported to be aimed primarily at giving relief to coal truckers. The act lowers fines which exist today and does away with the current stepped-up penalties for repeated offenses.

Nor, for example, a trucker convicted of operating a vehicle loaded 5,500 pounds above its registered weight would be fined $300 to $375 for the first offense. The new penalty would be $60 for any offense.

The shoplifting bill increases penalties for second and subsequent convictions as well as permits a merchant to detain a suspect for up to 30 minutes without arrest and without liability.

The House also passed 96-4 and sent to the governor a bill to prohibit school buses from operating with more than 10 passengers in excess of seating capacity.

The Senate defeated 17-16 a bill that would have allowed state-supported colleges and universities to use gate receipts from athletic contests to pay for athletes' tuition, fees, books and for training expenses.

In other action, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

— Exempt members of the legislature from jury service throughout their terms of office, 95-2.

— Permit counties within any given region, and the cities inside those counties, to form authorities to build and operate regional airports, 91-8.

— Permit county courts to charge a special fee of up to $1 for deer and bear hunters, with proceeds to be used to repay owners of live-stock and other property harmed by deer and bears, 51-48.

—Amend the compulsory retirement law for 70 - year - old state employes to permit the Mental Health Department to hire elderly persons under the "foster grandparents" program, 96-2.

WILLIAM STEWART

Union Presents Special Tribute To Midland Man

William Stewart of Wood St., Ohioville, was honored by Local 1269, United Steelworkers of America, Tuesday night at the New Riviera Club upon his retirement from the McIntosh - Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co.

Stewart, who served 20 years as secretary of the local, was employed as chairman in the cleaning and annealing department since 1927 except for a short period of time. His employment record had remained unbroken since 1936. He also was employed at the plant during 1917 and 1918 as a moulder helper.

Stewart came to Midland as a boy from Steelton, Pa., in 1912. He is the oldest surviving charter member of the Midland First Baptist Church.

His sister, Miss Betty Stewart, is the only other surviving charter member.

He hopes to spend the early months of his retirement working in his flower and vegetable gardens.

At the dinner he was presented a cash gift. Following the dinner he attended the union meeting of Local 1269. There he received a plaque given by the membership for his many years of loyal service to Local 1269.

$1 Million Debt Listed By County Coal Firm Owner

Debts totaling $1,061,000 have been listed by Gildo L. Tassi, owner of the Tassi Excavating Co., who has filed a voluntary petition in Federal Bankruptcy Court at Cleveland.

No assets were listed. The largest single debt was $450,000 owed to the Heavy Equipment Financing Corp. of Cleveland.

Tassi, who gave his address as Columbiana, described himself as an unemployed mine operator.

His debts included $200,000 owed National City Bank of Cleveland and $27,844 in federal taxes.

About 110 lawsuits for money had been filed earlier in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court in Lisbon. The firm had operated a mine on Route 30 south of Lisbon, later was taken over by Remmco Co. of Akron.

Cross-Burning AT WVU Tied To Race Prejudice

CHARLESTON (AP) — A cross-burning incident on the West Virginia University campus has prompted a state human rights official to say there appears to be a climate in Morgantown "nuturing rather than discouraging racial prejudice, reminiscent of the KKK."

Carl Glatt, executive director of the West Virginia Human Rights Commission, made the statement Thursday in referring to a cross burning last month on the lawn of the Alpha Phi sorority house.

Glatt said, "I am concerned that an incident like this could occur on any college campus, let alone a state university without some results and apprehension."

He added that any students involved in the incident should be disciplined and court action should be taken against any adults involved.

The cross burning was apparenlty precipitated by a picture in the school paper which showed four Negro basketball players on the WVU team who had been "kidnaped" by the sorority. The student body was to "ransom" the players with contributions to the Heart Fund.

Court Favors Pottery Union In Pact Battle

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has won another round in a four - year battle to negotiate a working agreement with the Metlox Manufacturing Co. of Los Angeles.

A U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled in favor of the Brotherhood in an appeal filed by the manufacturer, questioning an order to "bargain in good faith" that was issued by the National Labor Relations Board.

The IBOP was chosen in early 1963 in an NLRB election as the bargaining agent for Metlox employes. A year later, after the union and the company were unable to come to terms on a contract, the IBOP workers launched a strike and set up a picket line.

An NLRB examiner ruled late in 1964 that the company had refused to bargain in good faith. He also held that the union had been "unduly restricted" in efforts to examine the company's financial records.

The NLRB ordered the company to bargain in good faith, reinstate the striking employes and reimburse them for any loss of earnings resulting if they were not reinstated.

The findings and orders were sustained by the court in denying the company's petition for a review.

In another case, an arbitrator has ruled in favor of the union in a dispute with the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. over payments to female handle finishers.

The union said the arbiter ruled that the company must pay the women male minimum rates when they do not "make out" at piece work rates. The women, members of Local 321, contended the company paid them the female minimum rate when they did not "make out" at piece work.

District Groups Oppose New Tax In West Virginia

Two East Liverpool district groups had a hand in defeating a proposed West Virginia gross margin tax bill which was rejected by the Senate at Charleston Wednesday.

The bill was opposed by both the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce and the North Hancock County Development Association. They sent wires urging defeat of the proposal to district representatives in both the West Virginia Senate and House of Delegates.

Both groups took the position that the new tax would place an unfair tax burden on existing industries, particularly ceramics and glass, and would discourage new industries from locating in the state.

The wires went to Callie Tsapis and George Griffith in the House of Delegates; State Sens. William Tompos and Chester Hubbard, and Angus Peyton, head of the State Department of Commerce.

The two area groups pointed out less than 20 per cent of West Virginia is industrialized, with the balance of the state oriented toward rural interests.

Many persons believe that Smyrna was the birthplace of the Greek poet, Homer.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: Do you believe that it is possible for people to be agreed religiously?

ANSWER: In order for there to be religious unity, personal prejudices, human creeds, and the decisions of synods and councils must be set aside. These simply result in additional confusion and division.

The solution to the religious division of today is found on the pages of the New Testament. Consider the following very carefully:

1. Christ prayed that we all be one in will and word (John 17: 20,21.) Surely, Christ would not have prayed for an impossibility.
2. Paul cast a curse upon those who would preach another gospel (Gal. 1:8,9).
3. Paul called upon the church at Corinth to speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among them (1 Cor. 1:10).
4. In Paul's day there was one church and one gospel (Eph. 6:4-6).

I firmly believe that we could be agreed religiously. But it will require all men preaching what Jesus, Peter, and Paul proclaimed in new testament days. Only when the pulpits of the land ring with what the Bible says can we be one in Christ.

May our desire be to say with Paul, "There is one body . . . " (Eph. 4:4).

SWIMMING AFTER MEALS

Q. Our swimming coach insists that we observe the "no swimming" rule for one hour after meals. Is this necessary?

A. It is a wise precaution. The flow of blood to the digestive tract is strikingly increased after a full meal. This added circulatory demand increases the work load of the heart and may divert some blood from the heart itself. The muscular activity of swimming creates further demand for blood to supply the muscles. The combined demand could overtax the heart. The above remarks do not apply, of course, to sunbathing or the mild exertion of wading after a snack.

PSORAISIS

Q. What is the cause, and is there a cure, for psoriasis?

A. Neither the cause of nor the cure for psoriasis is known. However, relief is often possible through treatment prescribed by the doctor on the basis of the state or activity of the disease and the portion of the body involved.

Face 3-Day Extension Of Session

W. Va. Legislators Work On Substitute Tax Bill

CHARLESTON (AP) — Facing an almost certain three-day extension of the 60-day session, West Virginia legislative leaders today worked behind the scenes on a stubstitute tax bill to raise some $20 million in new revenue and help balance the budget.

Senate leaders said "the membership is reconciled" to extending the session from March 11 probably into the afternoon of March 14.

"We don't have any money yet and we've got to find it before we can work on the budget bill," said Senate President Howard W. Carson, D-Fayette. The three-day extension would be limited to budget matters, he said.

And on a money-related issue the Senate was to vote today on whether to permit dog racing tracks in the state with parimutuel betting, hailed as "a financial bonanza."

Floor voting on amendments Thursday indicated passage was unlikely today.

After heavy Senate amending, the dog track bill was moved into position for a vote today carrying dog racing on a county option basis and not to be built within 50 miles of an existing horse track.

Senate Majority Leader William A. Moreland, D-Monongalia, defended the dog racing bill during debate Thursday, linking it with the state's need for more money.

Moreland said he could not estimate how much revenue dog racing would produce, but he called it "a financial bonanza" that would help the state in "looking for revenue and . . . attracting more tourists to this state."

The Senate Finance Committee had attempted to erase an amendment proposed by the Judiciary Committee creating the 50-mile zone around a horse track where no dog racing tracks could be built.

The finance move—supported by Senate Democratic leadership — failed on 17-14 a standup vote.

Judiciary chairman William T. Brotherton Jr., D-Kanawha, was successful with an amendment to assure that the current local option provision that now exists in the horse racing statute would remain in the dog track bill.

On tax matters, the Senate defeat Wednesday of the gross margin tax bill — keystone to the Democratic leadership's $23 million tax revision program—created a flurry of activity the past two days to find ways to make up the loss.

House and Senate Finance committees have come up with similar, but not identical taxing measures.

House Finance Chairman Ivor F. Boiarsky, D-Kanawha, said Thursday night his committee has found a possible tax package that could raise $20 million in new revenue.

The proposed bill would raise the gross sales tax rate on manufacturing from .4 to .7 per cent and bring professional people under the law at a 1.05 per cent rate. Professional groups such as doctors and lawyers now are exempt from the gross sales tax.

In addition, Boiarsky said a law could be enacted imposing a 2 per cent corporate net income tax that would not allow a credit for gross sales tax payments. Other corporate net income proposals would allow the credit.

Included in the package would be revision of the transportation privilege tax. Boiarsky hoped to have the package ready for review sometime today.

On the Senate side, Moreland said that "unless something breaks rapidly, we will have to stay here until we get a balanced budget."

"In other Thursday action, bills were passed and sent to the governor to sharply cut fines for overweight trucks and to give merchants the right to detain suspected shoplifters for up to one-half hour without fear of a damage suit from the person detained.

The House passed 100-0 the truck weight bill, reported to be aimed primarily at giving relief to coal truckers. The act lowers fines which exist today and does away with the current stepped-up penalties for repeated offenses.

Nor, for example, a trucker convicted of operating a vehicle loaded 5,500 pounds above its registered weight would be fined $300 to $375 for the first offense. The new penalty would be $60 for any offense.

The shoplifting bill increases penalties for second and subsequent convictions as well as permits a merchant to detain a suspect for up to 30 minutes without arrest and without liability.

The House also passed 96-4 and sent to the governor a bill to prohibit school buses from operating with more than 10 passengers in excess of seating capacity.

The Senate defeated 17-16 a bill that would have allowed state-supported colleges and universities to use gate receipts from athletic contests to pay for athletes' tuition, fees, books and for training expenses.

In other action, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills to:

— Exempt members of the legislature from jury service throughout their terms of office, 95-2.

— Permit counties within any given region, and the cities inside those counties, to form authorities to build and operate regional airports, 91-8.

— Permit county courts to charge a special fee of up to $1 for deer and bear hunters, with proceeds to be used to repay owners of live-stock and other property harmed by deer and bears, 51-48.

—Amend the compulsory retirement law for 70 - year - old state employes to permit the Mental Health Department to hire elderly persons under the "foster grandparents" program, 96-2.

Cross-Burning AT WVU Tied To Race Prejudice

CHARLESTON (AP) — A cross-burning incident on the West Virginia University campus has prompted a state human rights official to say there appears to be a climate in Morgantown "nuturing rather than discouraging racial prejudice, reminiscent of the KKK."

Carl Glatt, executive director of the West Virginia Human Rights Commission, made the statement Thursday in referring to a cross burning last month on the lawn of the Alpha Phi sorority house.

Glatt said, "I am concerned that an incident like this could occur on any college campus, let alone a state university without some results and apprehension."

He added that any students involved in the incident should be disciplined and court action should be taken against any adults involved.

The cross burning was apparenlty precipitated by a picture in the school paper which showed four Negro basketball players on the WVU team who had been "kidnaped" by the sorority. The student body was to "ransom" the players with contributions to the Heart Fund.

WILLIAM STEWART

Union Presents Special Tribute To Midland Man

William Stewart of Wood St., Ohioville, was honored by Local 1269, United Steelworkers of America, Tuesday night at the New Riviera Club upon his retirement from the McIntosh - Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co.

Stewart, who served 20 years as secretary of the local, was employed as chairman in the cleaning and annealing department since 1927 except for a short period of time. His employment record had remained unbroken since 1936. He also was employed at the plant during 1917 and 1918 as a moulder helper.

Stewart came to Midland as a boy from Steelton, Pa., in 1912. He is the oldest surviving charter member of the Midland First Baptist Church.

His sister, Miss Betty Stewart, is the only other surviving charter member.

He hopes to spend the early months of his retirement working in his flower and vegetable gardens.

At the dinner he was presented a cash gift. Following the dinner he attended the union meeting of Local 1269. There he received a plaque given by the membership for his many years of loyal service to Local 1269.

$1 Million Debt Listed By County Coal Firm Owner

Debts totaling $1,061,000 have been listed by Gildo L. Tassi, owner of the Tassi Excavating Co., who has filed a voluntary petition in Federal Bankruptcy Court at Cleveland.

No assets were listed. The largest single debt was $450,000 owed to the Heavy Equipment Financing Corp. of Cleveland.

Tassi, who gave his address as Columbiana, described himself as an unemployed mine operator.

His debts included $200,000 owed National City Bank of Cleveland and $27,844 in federal taxes.

About 110 lawsuits for money had been filed earlier in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court in Lisbon. The firm had operated a mine on Route 30 south of Lisbon, later was taken over by Remmco Co. of Akron.

2 Drivers Penalized In License Violations

BEAVER — Two men charged with driving while under license suspension were fined and placed on probation in Beaver County Court Wednesday.

George Crute Sr. of Smiths Ferry pleaded guilty and was fined $150 and costs and placed on three - year probation.

Leonard M. Hobbs of Georgetown was fined $200 and costs and placed on three years probation. The charges were filed by Pennsylvania state police.

Court Favors Pottery Union In Pact Battle

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters has won another round in a four - year battle to negotiate a working agreement with the Metlox Manufacturing Co. of Los Angeles.

A U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled in favor of the Brotherhood in an appeal filed by the manufacturer, questioning an order to "bargain in good faith" that was issued by the National Labor Relations Board.

The IBOP was chosen in early 1963 in an NLRB election as the bargaining agent for Metlox employes. A year later, after the union and the company were unable to come to terms on a contract, the IBOP workers launched a strike and set up a picket line.

An NLRB examiner ruled late in 1964 that the company had refused to bargain in good faith. He also held that the union had been "unduly restricted" in efforts to examine the company's financial records.

The NLRB ordered the company to bargain in good faith, reinstate the striking employes and reimburse them for any loss of earnings resulting if they were not reinstated.

The findings and orders were sustained by the court in denying the company's petition for a review.

In another case, an arbitrator has ruled in favor of the union in a dispute with the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. over payments to female handle finishers.

The union said the arbiter ruled that the company must pay the women male minimum rates when they do not "make out" at piece work rates. The women, members of Local 321, contended the company paid them the female minimum rate when they did not "make out" at piece work.

Cain uttered the well-known words "Am I my brother's keeper?"

JAMES E. TAYLOR
Field Training Consultant

Insurance Firm Gives Promotion To Ex-City Man

James E. Taylor of Portsmouth, a former East Liverpool resident and an agency manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., has been promoted to field training consultant with the company.

Taylor was assistant manager for the local company here, before moving to Portsmouth about three years ago.

He is to be assigned by the home office in New York to the Mideastern area and is to work primarily in Ohio and West Virginia. He and his wife, Sally, and children plan to move to Columbus.

A 1953 graduate of East Liverpool High School, he is the son of Mrs. Forest Taylor of 722 Daisy Ln.

District Groups Oppose New Tax In West Virginia

Two East Liverpool district groups had a hand in defeating a proposed West Virginia gross margin tax bill which was rejected by the Senate at Charleston Wednesday.

The bill was opposed by both the East Liverpool Area Chamber of Commerce and the North Hancock County Development Association. They sent wires urging defeat of the proposal to district representatives in both the West Virginia Senate and House of Delegates.

Both groups took the position that the new tax would place an unfair tax burden on existing industries, particularly ceramics and glass, and would discourage new industries from locating in the state.

The wires went to Callie Tsapis and George Griffith in the House of Delegates; State Sens. William Tompos and Chester Hubbard, and Angus Peyton, head of the State Department of Commerce.

The two area groups pointed out less than 20 per cent of West Virginia is industrialized, with the balance of the state oriented toward rural interests.

Many persons believe that Smyrna was the birthplace of the Greek poet, Homer.

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

QUESTION: Do you believe that it is possible for people to be agreed religiously?

ANSWER: In order for there to be religious unity, personal prejudices, human creeds, and the decisions of synods and councils must be set aside. These simply result in additional confusion and division.

The solution to the religious division of today is found on the pages of the New Testament. Consider the following very carefully:

1. Christ prayed that we all be one in will and word (John 17: 20,21.) Surely, Christ would not have prayed for an impossibility.
2. Paul cast a curse upon those who would preach another gospel (Gal. 1:8,9).
3. Paul called upon the church at Corinth to speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among them (1 Cor. 1:10).
4. In Paul's day there was one church and one gospel (Eph. 6:4-6).

I firmly believe that we could be agreed religiously. But it will require all men preaching what Jesus, Peter, and Paul proclaimed in new testament days. Only when the pulpits of the land ring with what the Bible says can we be one in Christ.

May our desire be to say with Paul, "There is one body . . . " (Eph. 4:4).

Two Cousins Are Slain In Illinois Park

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Two teen-age cousins were forced to kneel against the stone wall of an isolated park pavilion Thursday night and then were shot to death at point blank range, police said.

Police squads rushed to the area after an anonymous tipster, believed to be a woman, called the Winnebago County sheriff's office and told deputies where to find the bodies.

"To hell with them," the woman shouted over the phone. "Just let them lay there and die."

The bodies of the two boys were found lying on the pavilion's cement slab floor. Each boy had been shot in the stomach and the back of the head with a small-caliber weapon.

Wayne Mullendore, 14, was dead on arrival at Rockford Memorial Hospital. His first cousin, Ronald Johnson, 14, died in the operating room two hours later. He never regained conciousness.

"These were clean-cut, church-going boys," said Sheriff Herb Brown. "They had never been in any trouble. We have no idea why this happened."

The boys, both seventh-graders at Wilson Junior High School, apparently carried no money or wallets. They called a girl friend at 7:15 p.m., Sheriff Brown said, "and had to cash in five soft drink bottles to raise a dime."

Minutes later the boys went to one of their homes to pick up some phonograph records. Then they left, saying they were going to the home of a friend. They never arrived. An hour later their bodies were found.

Lions On The Line Causes Train Delay

DAR—ESSALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Apologizing for the recent late arrival of the night train to Morogoro, deep in Tanzania game country, East African Railways claimed lions were to blame.

The driver picked out the pride in his spotlight as they straddled the line.

So hard did he jam on his brakes that a carriage was derailed.

The lion was run over and killed. The rest prowled around angrily, preventing repair work and delaying the train for six hours.

Statistics reveal that the average American makes 4.5 visits to the doctor and 1.6 visits to the dentist per year.

Boys Hurl Ice On Auto Roof

A Wellsville motorist complained to police early Wednesday night the roof of his compact auto was damaged by a big chunk of ice hurled from an overhead pedestrian walk as he drove on a Freeway access ramp.

Steven Clark told officers the ice was thrown by three or four young boys from the walkway that connects W. 7th St. with the Westgate School area. It struck his auto as he drove on the ramp that leads from W. 8th St. to the Freeway, he reported. He was driving a 1965 model owned by John G. Clark of 929 Riverside Ave.

Clark gave police a description of the youngsters. Patrolman David K. Mumaw said the investigation is continuing. It was one of four acts of vandalism involving autos that were reported to police Thursday.

Thomas Lamp of Chester R. D. 1 told police the window of his 1964 model car was smashed while it was halted at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. Thursday night at 9.

Lamp was driving a car owned by his father, George Lamp, also of Chester R.D. 1. He said someone alighted from a 1955 model car and smashed the window out of the side of the auto. He gave police a description of the other car.

John Bourne of 966 Railroad St. told police today a vandal broke the radio antenna off his 1964 model car while it was parked at his home Thursday night.

Arthur J. Green of 923 Vine St. reported late Thursday afternoon a radiator hose on his 1963 model car was slashed while the car was parked at his home Wednesday night.

Sheriff's Office Sifts Attempted Burglary

LISBON — Sheriff's Deputy Dave Brothers early today investigated what appears to have been an attempted burglary at Art Edling's service station on Route 172, Guilford Lake.

He checked the station at 3:58 a. m., nine minutes after the County Jail dispatcher received a telephone call from a motorist who noticed the door of the station ajar.

Brothers said the door was open about two inches and the burglar alarm was ringing. There were pry marks on the door, but nothing else was disturbed. The station was entered in January and $47 worth of candy and cigarettes stolen.

Two Nations Seeking War Crime Figure

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian authorities gave no indication today whether West Germany or Austria will get Franz-Josef Stangl, wanted by both nations on charges of murdering hundreds of thousands of concentration camp prisoners during World War II.

Austrian-born Stangl, 60, was brought to Brasilia Thursday after police picked him up in a Sao Paulo auto plant where he was working. An Austrian diplomat in Rio de Janeiro said Vienna tipped off Brazilian authorities to Stangl's whereabouts.

West German officials said under international practice the country holding a suspect can decide where to send him if several countries want him.

A West German arrest warrant issued in 1964 said Stangl was suspected of having had a part in the murder of about 700,000 Jewish prisoners at the Treblinka death camp near Warsaw, which he headed for a year until August 1943.

The Jewish Documentation Center in Vienna said Stangl, once a captain of the SS Elite Guard, was No. 3 on the list of war criminals still at large. The top two are Martin Bormann, Hitler's long-missing aide, and Heinrich Mueller, the last of Hitler's Gestapo chiefs.

Legal Gambling In Navada Prison To Be Abolished

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — A quiet hobby program —rawhide braiding, beadwork, knitting, crocheting and painting — will replace legal gambling at the Nevada State Prison. The prison casino will be abolished, says Warden Carl Hocker.

The prisoners believe, Hocker says, that the Nevada Legislature will pass a law presently being considered to abolish the casino on July 1.

Hocker said the move to beat the Legislature to the draw came from the Inmate Advisory Council.

Prison gambling will end March 28, the warden said Thursday, but each inmate will have his prison money account credited with the amount of brass gambling chips he holds on the day the chips are destroyed.

Gov. Paul Laxalt recently appointed Hocker to the warden's post with instructions to toughen up prison discipline.

Hocker said he wanted to replace gambling with "more constructive activities."

The prison newspaper "The Sagebrush" said recreation also will be improved with addition of handball, softball, volleyball and new basketball courts.

'Head Start' Due At BPW

"Operation Head Start," a phase of the federal government's "Community Action" program, will be discussed at next Wednesday's meeting of the East Liverpool Business and Professional Women's Club by an official of the Ohio BPW Federation and local panelists.

Mrs. Albro James of Uhrichsville, state legislation chairman for the Ohio BPW group, will be guest speaker, discussing the educational phase of the "Head Start" program in which she has received special government training.

The physical phase will be presented by Mrs. Robert (Edna) Jones, school nurse in the East Liverpool system and a member of the BPW Club.

Mrs. Harry Greenwood, chairman of the club's legislative committee which has arranged the meeting program, will serve as moderator. Both Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. Jones participated in last year's "Head Start" program in the city, when some 30 "financially-deprived" pre-school age children benefited.

Mrs. Greenwood also will add commentary to the showing of a government - produced color film on the "Head Start" program and pointed out that the subject should be of special interest to BPW members since many of the children involved are already registered patients of the club - sponsored Child Health Clinic.

Miss Joan Witt, president, will preside during the business session following the 6:30 dinner and program at the Travelers Hotel. She reminds members that committee reports, balloting on new member applications and committee assignments for the club's participation in District 8's meeting April 2 at Atwood Lodge are on the agenda.

BPW members' dinner reservations are due with Mrs. Greenwood by Sunday.

Shafer Urges Adoption Of Tax Compact

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J. (AP) — Pennsylvania's Gov. Raymond P. Shafer has urged that a proposed interstate tax compact be adopted in order to secure tax uniformity for businesses operating in two or more states.

Shafer voiced his support for the compact at a Republican Lincoln Day dinner Thursday. The dinner had been postponed because of the snowstorm in February.

The governor warned that Congress would enact its own laws if the states do not take the initiative in this area of tax reform.

"For the past several sessions of Congress...several Congressmen have been working diligently to curtail the jurisdiction of the states and local governments to tax businesses engaged in multistate business activities," Shafer said. "If the states don't act now, this will happen and another tax base will be taken from the states."

The Pennsylvania governor said he planned to ask his state's General Assembly to approve the compact during the current legislative session. The compact has received the endorsement of the National Governor's Conference.

Shafer declared: "If we don't take action at the state level, we deserve to lose this base."

Shafer went on to urge the Union County Republicans to appeal to youth.

Mentioning the post-war baby boom, he said: "I suggest that the political party that is smart enough to bring the majority of these young people into its tent is going to be the party that is in control for a long time to come."

U.S. Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., told the Republicans that GOP gains in the last election were "just a start."

Shafer, who earlier in the day had attended a four-state meeting of the Delaware River Basin Commission in Dover, Del., said he had proposed an air pollution commission modeled on the basin commission. He said governors Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Nelson Rockefeller of New York, and Charles Terry of Delaware had received his idea enthusiastically.

At a news conference before the dinner, Shafer said he has no immediate national political goal.

He also said he did not think former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton would run again for an elective office. However, commenting on reports that Scranton might be chosen the next ambassador to Vietnam, Shafer said he would not rule out further public office for the former governor.

Ohio Savings, Loans Receive Recognition

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Gov. James A. Rhodes has proclaimed 1967 as the "100th Anniversary Year" for Ohio's savings and loan associations.

The first savings and loan chartered in Ohio, the Delaware Building Association, was incorporated in 1867 at Delaware.

The governor's proclamation says: "Savings and loans throughout Ohio have shared in and contributed to the economic stability and progress of the state and assisted thousands of Ohio citizens to enjoy a fuller life by participation in the home financing and savings program offered by the savings and loan organizations located in almost every community.

Ohio has compiled one of the best savings and loan records in the United States. Today, its 554 savings and loan associations have assets of about $10.5 billion — about 8 per cent of the total savings and loan assets in the country — and hold more than $9 billion in savings.

Facts and Fallacies about Jewelry

by W. D. ORR

FALLACY:
Freedom from imperfections is the main factor in the value of a gem.

FACT:
Probably the chief reason for the value of a precious stone is its scarcity. For example, the Aquamarine, one of the alternate March birthstones, belongs to the same family as the emerald. It is equally beautiful and far more free of imperfections. But the rarer emerald is more costly.

Two Cousins Are Slain In Illinois Park

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Two teen-age cousins were forced to kneel against the stone wall of an isolated park pavilion Thursday night and then were shot to death at point blank range, police said.

Police squads rushed to the area after an anonymous tipster, believed to be a woman, called the Winnebago County sheriff's office and told deputies where to find the bodies.

"To hell with them," the woman shouted over the phone. "Just let them lay there and die."

The bodies of the two boys were found lying on the pavilion's cement slab floor. Each boy had been shot in the stomach and the back of the head with a small-caliber weapon.

Wayne Mullendore, 14, was dead on arrival at Rockford Memorial Hospital. His first cousin, Ronald Johnson, 14, died in the operating room two hours later. He never regained conciousness.

"These were clean-cut, church-going boys," said Sheriff Herb Brown. "They had never been in any trouble. We have no idea why this happened."

The boys, both seventh-graders at Wilson Junior High School, apparently carried no money or wallets. They called a girl friend at 7:15 p.m., Sheriff Brown said, "and had to cash in five soft drink bottles to raise a dime."

Minutes later the boys went to one of their homes to pick up some phonograph records. Then they left, saying they were going to the home of a friend. They never arrived. An hour later their bodies were found.

Lions On The Line Causes Train Delay

DAR—ESSALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Apologizing for the recent late arrival of the night train to Morogoro, deep in Tanzania game country, East African Railways claimed lions were to blame.

The driver picked out the pride in his spotlight as they straddled the line.

So hard did he jam on his brakes that a carriage was derailed.

The lion was run over and killed. The rest prowled around angrily, preventing repair work and delaying the train for six hours.

Boys Hurl Ice On Auto Roof

A Wellsville motorist complained to police early Wednesday night the roof of his compact auto was damaged by a big chunk of ice hurled from an overhead pedestrian walk as he drove on a Freeway access ramp.

Steven Clark told officers the ice was thrown by three or four young boys from the walkway that connects W. 7th St. with the Westgate School area. It struck his auto as he drove on the ramp that leads from W. 8th St. to the Freeway, he reported. He was driving a 1965 model owned by John G. Clark of 929 Riverside Ave.

Clark gave police a description of the youngsters. Patrolman David K. Mumaw said the investigation is continuing. It was one of four acts of vandalism involving autos that were reported to police Thursday.

Thomas Lamp of Chester R.D. 1 told police the window of his 1964 model car was smashed while it was halted at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. Thursday night at 9.

Lamp was driving a car owned by his father, George Lamp, also of Chester R.D. 1. He said someone alighted from a 1955 model car and smashed the window out of the side of the auto. He gave police a description of the other car.

John Bourne of 966 Railroad St. told police today a vandal broke the radio antenna off his 1964 model car while it was parked at his home Thursday night.

Arthur J. Green of 923 Vine St. reported late Thursday afternoon a radiator hose on his 1963 model car was slashed while the car was parked at his home Wednesday night.

Sheriff's Office Sifts Attempted Burglary

LISBON — Sheriff's Deputy Dave Brothers early today investigated what appears to have been an attempted burglary at Art Edling's service station on Route 172, Guilford Lake.

He checked the station at 3:58 a. m., nine minutes after the County Jail dispatcher received a telephone call from a motorist who noticed the door of the station ajar.

Brothers said the door was open about two inches and the burglar alarm was ringing. There were pry marks on the door, but nothing else was disturbed. The station was entered in January and $47 worth of candy and cigarettes stolen.

Two Nations Seeking War Crime Figure

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian authorities gave no indication today whether West Germany or Austria will get Franz-Josef Stangl, wanted by both nations on charges of murdering hundreds of thousands of concentration camp prisoners during World War II.

Austrian-born Stangl, 60, was brought to Brasilia Thursday after police picked him up in a Sao Paulo auto plant where he was working. An Austrian diplomat in Rio de Janeiro said Vienna tipped off Brazilian authorities to Stangl's whereabouts.

West German officials said under international practice the country holding a suspect can decide where to send him if several countries want him.

A West German arrest warrant issued in 1964 said Stangl was suspected of having had a part in the murder of about 700,000 Jewish prisoners at the Treblinka death camp near Warsaw, which he headed for a year until August 1943.

The Jewish Documentation Center in Vienna said Stangl, once a captain of the SS Elite Guard, was No. 3 on the list of war criminals still at large. The top two are Martin Bormann, Hitler's long-missing aide, and Heinrich Mueller, the last of Hitler's Gestapo chiefs.

Legal Gambling In Navada Prison To Be Abolished

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — A quiet hobby program —rawhide braiding, beadwork, knitting, crocheting and painting — will replace legal gambling at the Nevada State Prison. The prison casino will be abolished, says Warden Carl Hocker.

The prisoners believe, Hocker says, that the Nevada Legislature will pass a law presently being considered to abolish the casino on July 1.

Hocker said the move to beat the Legislature to the draw came from the Inmate Advisory Council.

Prison gambling will end March 28, the warden said Thursday, but each inmate will have his prison money account credited with the amount of brass gambling chips he holds on the day the chips are destroyed.

Gov. Paul Laxalt recently appointed Hocker to the warden's post with instructions to toughen up prison discipline.

Hocker said he wanted to replace gambling with "more constructive activities."

The prison newspaper "The Sagebrush" said recreation also will be improved with addition of handball, softball, volleyball and new basketball courts.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Kitty Is Just Plain Hurt

"It's a horrible, terrible hurt," said Amanda Blake, with big tears in her eyes, as she sat in her Western-style dressing room packing up mementos from 12 years of playing Kitty in "Gunsmoke." CBS suddenly canceled the famous series last Wednesday.

Hal Humphrey

"I feel as if I'd been shot in the back. It's like one of our old scripts. Sure I've beefed about a lot of things over the years, but that didn't mean I wanted my beer taken away from me," cried Amanda.

-:-

"DID YOU KNOW we already had eight scripts and eight directors picked for next season? The bums had even mailed us our work schedule for 1967-68. When Jim Arness heard about it, he thought it was a joke. They really dropped a bomb in our laps," Amanda went on.

Meanwhile, back in New York where the decision to drop "Gumsmoke" from next season's schedule was made, one of the vice presidents in charge said it was felt that "program fatigue" was setting in with the veteran series, and it was decided there was no point in waiting for it to expire of its own weariness.

Upon hearing the "program fatigue" prognosis, Amanda let fly with a variety of expletives, the same as any normal, healthy saloon gal bred in the Ol' West might do. As she pointed out, the series still had a respectable rating, which was why nobody (including executive producer Philip Leacock) anticipated anything but a renewal for next season.

THERE'S a wide choice of rumors adrift for those who don't want to swallow the "program fatigue" answer. One is that if CBS picked up the Arness option, it would have had to be on a play-or-pay basis of $400,000 a year for three years, meaning an outlay of $1.2 million to Arness.

After smarting from stockholders' criticism over their purchase of the faltering New York Yankees baseball team and Jackie Gleason's kooky glass mansion, maybe the network brass has turned more conservative.

Another rumor makes "Gunsmoke" the victim of a power squeeze exerted by Lucille Ball, president of Desilou, who wanted her new "Mannix" private-eye series to have a choice berth of the CBS schedule. And to get Lucy herself back for next season, it is necessary for CBS to oblige her on "Mannix."

PERHAPS, if either or both are true, these could have been contributing factors to the cancellation decision. Also, the fact that Arness was completely uncooperative the past few years when it came to press interviews or other plans CBS had for involving him in exploiting "Gunsmoke" might have had its influence.

Whatever the reasoning, most of the "terrible hurt" described by Amanda came from the suddenness of the decision and the typical callousness displayed by all networks when deciding to push human beings aside after years of loyal, and of course in this case highly remunerative, service.

After packing her belongings (shooting on the final "Gunsmoke" episode was done Tuesday), Amanda began to get ready for the traditional cast-and-crew party held on the set Wednesday night.

"THIS ISN'T going to be a party. We're having a wake. But sure, I'll be there with my waterproof mascara and my topless-bottomless dress, so I won't care if I spill anything," she said, still sobbing.

Arness was still up in the mountains skiing (where he was first notified of "Gunsmoke's demise) but planned to be at the "wake," too. Amanda was in Reno for a few days' vacation when Leacock called to break the sad news.

"Did you hear about Mil?" asked Amanda, referring to Milburn Stone, who's played Doc Adams since the series started on TV in 1955. "He picked up and went to Lake Mead to fish, after he heard, and he told me today he didn't even catch a fish."

INVITATIONS to the end-of-shooting party also went to writer John Meston and producer Norman Macdonnell, who created "Gunsmoke" but haven't been with it for the past few years, and to Dennis Weaver who limped away from the series four years ago as Chester.

Although he hasn't been too active lately Dennis at least has something to celebrate. He stars in a new series by CBS for next season. "Gentle Ben" is the name of it.

Beaver ASC Offers Farm Measurement

Glenn Campbell, chairman of the Beaver County ASC Committee, announced today that the local ASCS Office is now accepting requests from farmers for measuring and staking service.

He said, "Measurement and staking service is being offered to farmers at a nominal cost — an inexpensive type of insurance in assuring farmers they are in compliance with acreage requirements of the Wheat and Feed Grain Programs."

The Chairman explained that farmers may utilize the measurement service to determine the exact amount of permitted and diverted acreage prior to planting time. This measured acreage is staked off by an ASCS field reporter and the farmer knows exactly how much acreage he should plant and divert for compliance in the Feed Grain Program.

In the case of wheat, the service can be used to determine if he has planted within his allotment to insure eligibility for wheat certificate payments.

Some of the advantages farmers gain by this service are:

(1) He will not lose money in labor, machinery, seed and fertilizer, costs of overplanted acreage which must be destroyed.

(2) He will be able to plant the entire permitted or intended acreage of feed grain and other crops and will not lose money from underplanting acreage in order to be sure that he is within the permitted acreage.

(3) He will not lose income from excess diverted acreage which could have been planted to a crop.

(4) He will be sure of being eligible for price support and other program payments.

A graduated uniform schedule of service charges has been established for all counties in the state to use the measurement service. They are: 0.1 to 11.9 acres $8; 12 to 24.9 acres $12.50; 25.0 to 49.9 acres — $17.50; 50.0 to 100 acres — $25; over 100 acres — $25 for the first 100 acres plus $15 for each additional multiple of 100 acres or fraction thereof.

Campbell pointed out that although requests for this service will be taken any time during the year, the principal benefit is using it prior to planting time.

Farmers who sign up in the 1967 Feed Grain Program are reminded that stiff penalties, either through reduction in payment of complete loss of payment, are applied for exceeding the permitted acreage or having less diverted or conserving acreage than necessary.

To use this service, a request must be filed at the local ASCS office.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Kitty Is Just Plain Hurt

"It's a horrible, terrible hurt," said Amanda Blake, with big tears in her eyes, as she sat in her Western-style dressing room packing up mementos from 12 year of playing Kitty in "Gunsmoke." CBS suddenly canceled the famous series last Wednesday.

Hal Humphrey

"I feel as if I'd been shot in the back. It's like one of our old scripts. Sure I've beefed about a lot of things over the years, but that didn't mean I wanted my beer taken away from me," cried Amanda.

-:-

"DID YOU KNOW we already had eight scripts and eight directors picked for next season? The bums had even mailed us our work schedule for 1967-68. When Jim Arness heard about it, he thought it was a joke. They really dropped a bomb in our laps," Amanda went on.

Meanwhile, back in New York where the decision to drop "Gumsmoke" from next season's schedule was made, one of the vice presidents in charge said it was felt that "program fatigue" was setting in with the veteran series, and it was decided there was no point in waiting for it to expire of its own weariness.

Upon hearing the "program fatigue" prognosis, Amanda let fly with a variety of expletives, the same as any normal, healthy saloon gal bred in the Ol' West might do. As she pointed out, the series still had a respectable rating, which was why nobody (including executive producer Philip Leacock) anticipated anything but a renewal for next season.

THERE'S a wide choice of rumors adrift for those who don't want to swallow the "program fatigue" answer. One is that if CBS picked up the Arness option, it would have had to be on a play-or-pay basis of $400,000 a year for three years, meaning an outlay of $1.2 million to Arness.

After smarting from stockholders' criticism over their purchase of the faltering New York Yankees baseball team and Jackie Gleason's kooky glass mansion, maybe the network brass has turned more conservative.

Another rumor makes "Gunsmoke" the victim of a power squeeze exerted by Lucille Ball, president of Desilou, who wanted her new "Mannix" private-eye series to have a choice berth of the CBS schedule. And to get Lucy herself back for next season, it is necessary for CBS to oblige her on "Mannix."

PERHAPS, if either or both are true, these could have been contributing factors to the cancellation decision. Also, the fact that Arness was completely uncooperative the past few years when it came to press interviews or other plans CBS had for involving him in exploiting "Gunsmoke" might have had its influence.

Whatever the reasoning, most of the "terrible hurt" described by Amanda came from the suddenness of the decision and the typical callousness displayed by all networks when deciding to push human beings aside after years of loyal, and of course in this case highly remunerative, service.

After packing her belongings (shooting on the final "Gunsmoke" episode was done Tuesday), Amanda began to get ready for the traditional cast-and-crew party held on the set Wednesday night.

"THIS ISN'T going to be a party. We're having a wake. But sure, I'll be there with my waterproof mascara and my topless-bottomless dress, so I won't care if I spill anything," she said, still sobbing.

Arness was still up in the mountains skiing (where he was first notified of "Gunsmoke's demise) but planned to be at the "wake," too. Amanda was in Reno for a few days' vacation when Leacock called to break the sad news.

"Did you hear about Mil?" asked Amanda, referring to Milburn Stone, who's played Doc Adams since the series started on TV in 1955. "He picked up and went to Lake Mead to fish, after he heard, and he told me today he didn't even catch a fish."

INVITATIONS to the end-of-shooting party also went to writer John Meston and producer Norman Macdonnell, who created "Gunsmoke" but haven't been with it for the past few years, and to Dennis Weaver who limped away from the series four years ago as Chester.

Although he hasn't been too active lately Dennis at least has something to celebrate. He stars in a new series by CBS for next season. "Gentle Ben" is the name of it.

Records Set By Scouts In Varied Fields

LISBON — Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, reports Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their leaders set records for activity last month — the 57th anniversary of Scouting in the U.S.

Bennett D. Taylor Jr., council executive, said the Cubs (ages 8-10) and their parents and leaders held "blue and gold" banquets in every community of the council — all of Columbiana County plus Chester and Newell, W. Va.

He said over 3,000 people attended these affairs at which 91 Cubs received advancement in rank and 100 arrow points were awarded for excellence in the field of electives.

Boy Scouts also set an outstanding mark. Taylor said 72 advanced in rank and 166 merit badges were awarded. Six boys received the Eagle award, Scouting's highest rank. These were presented at "Parents Nights" and special Courts of Honor attended by 1,825.

Council furnished area churches with 9,000 special Scout bulletins for church services on Scout Sunday, Feb. 12. Scouts assisted in these services as ushers and, in several cases, conducted the worship service along with their leaders. Four God and Country awards were presented on Scout Sunday and many Scoutmasters, Cubmasters and Explorer advisers were given special recognition.

Nine service clubs recognized the Scouting movement last month by inviting Boy Scout leaders to furnish programs for their meetings.

All units of the council had special displays in store windows, public parks and public buildings during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6-12.

Council headquarters in Lisbon processed 15 charters for re-registering units. One new unit completed its registration procedure and 17 more new units began the registration process.

Members of the Order of the Arrow, a national honor camping society of the Boy Scouts, met with 12 troops to show slides of Camp Twin Spruce and to promote attendance at summer camp.

Eighteen Scout leaders attended a special seminar Feb. 25 at Kent State University.

Taylor said these activities, combined with record attendances at roundtables, training courses and committee meetings, indicate council Boy Scouts will have a banner year.

Board Requests Bids For Ballots On Salem Voting

The County Election Board today issued a call for job printers' bids on ballots after the Board of Education of the Salem City School District filed a resolution asking a special election April 4 on a $644,000 bond issue to construct a new elementary school and an addition to another.

The Election Board will meet March 13 at 2 p. m. to consider the ballot bids.

The school board's emergency resolution included a certification from County Auditor Kenneth Bell that the bond issue would be retired in 22 years with a tax levy figured at the rate of 7.533 cents for each $100 valuation.

The school board acted after the old Fourth Street School was damaged severely in a recent windstorm. The resolution said the proceeds of the bond issue will be used primarily to construct a new elementary school and an addition to the Buckeye Elementary School.

Baptist Congregation Stunned For Moment

LIBERTY, Ky. (AP) — Members of Liberty Baptist Church sat in stunned silence when Johnnie Beard began leading their song service.

Beard was in a Methodist church four blocks away.

It seems the Methodists were hooked up for a broadcast over the local radio station, and the speaker system in the Baptist church was plugged in to receive.

A few plugs were pulled and things were back to normal.

Veracity of the belief that bears, when attacking, hug their opponents and squeeze them to death is questionable. In an attack, the bear strikes around with its paws; the terrific strength of its weighty arms drives its claws deep into the body of its victim. To an observer, this might look like hugging but, in fact, is far from it.

Permit Lifted For Speeding

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today ordered a 30-day suspension in the operator's permit of a Wellsville man and also fined him $25 and costs on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd.

John W. Jarvis, 26, of 937 Riverside Ave. was cited by the Highway Patrol Thursday at 5:05 p. m. He pleaded "no contest." The judge lectured Jarvis on excessive speed and pointed out a patrol officer was killed a few days ago in another part of the state while pursuing a speeder.

William L. Shields, 33, of Lisbon R. D. 3 was fined $25 and costs on a charge of "leaving the scene of an accident in which there was damage to real property." He was cited by the patrol as an aftermath of a mishap Feb. 24 at 9:10 p. m. on Park Way in which his car skidded off the roadway and collided with a utility pole, damaging it.

The patrol reported Shields left the scene on foot. He was taken into custody two days later, officers reported.

Lewis J. McIntosh, 31, of Vale St. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way at the junction of Annesley Rd. and Route 30. The patrol said he was cited following a two-car mishap Feb. 26 at 1:05 p. m. McIntosh pleaded "no contest."

Harold H. Grothjan, 32, of Toledo forfeited a $17.50 bond on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited by the patrol Thursday at 5:30 p. m.

Experts Look For Upsurge In Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some call the economic situation a slowdown. Others see it as a pause, a readjustment or just plain sluggishness.

But government experts are unanimous in one view — the current picture is far removed from a recession, which they believe just isn't in the cards.

Administration officials, despite a marked slowing in economic activity, continue to look for an upsurge later this year and contend the current sluggishness was anticipated fully when President Johnson recommended a 6 per cent surtax to go into effect July 1.

Some private experts have expressed fear the tax increase might force a downturn or even a recession.

Production dropped sharply in January and the experts expect the government index to show another drop in February, especially in view of falling auto sales.

Retail sales virtually were unchanged in January but employment increased that month, the latest for which figures are available.

Government figures on corporate profits have not been compiled for the last three months of 1966.

One government analyst said a resurgence in housing construction, increased state and local spending and the new Social Security benefits proposed by Johnson are some reasons to expect an upturn in economic activity.

The government's prediction for a 4 per cent rise in real growth this year still stands, he said.

But the first quarter rise in Gross National Product, the value of all goods and services produced in the economy, could be the smallest in more than two years.

It's believed that GNP might increase by less than $10 billion during the first three months of the year, the lowest since the $6.3-billion increase for the last quarter of 1964.

A Federal Reserve Board spokesman said this week's easing of bank credit, by dropping from 4 per cent to 3 per cent the amount of reserves banks must hold against savings accounts, was taken against the backdrop of slower economic activity.

The government completed Thursday the economic picture for January by reporting a substantial decline in new factory orders and a continuing increase in inventories.

Rising inventories frequently precede an economic downturn.

The Commerce Department said new orders for durable goods dropped 6.7 per cent instead of the 5.1 per cent reported earlier. This factor is supposed to indicate future economic activities.

But housing starts, the same type of leading economic indicator, rose substantially during January as they had the previous two months.

With unemployment low, industrial output down, retail sales unchanged and personal income up substantially, even the Commerce Department said January was a very mixed business month.

Geneva Receives Gift Of $360,000

BEAVER FALLS — Geneva College has received a gift in excess of $360,000 in cash and securities from the William M. Allison Trust Fund of Chicago.

The unrestricted gift, largest single contribution ever received by the college, was made public today by Dr. Edwin C. Clarke, Geneva president.

Allison, a noted Chicago capitalist and civic leader, died Nov. 23, 1966 in Palm Beach, Fla.

A native of Aliquippa, Allison attended Geneva from 1923 to 1926.

In addition to Geneva's gift, Allison's trust fund, established in 1957, provided for contributions to several other educational institutions, including the University of Pittsburgh, and to a hospital.

At the time of his death, Allison's trust fund was valued at $2,800,000.

$50 Million Price Tag For Plain Dealer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel I. Newhouse has purchased the Cleveland Plain Dealer — reportedly for $50 million, the highest price paid for a single newspaper in the history of American journalism.

The short and peppery 72-year-old Newhouse now has 22 newspapers coast to coast, counting morning and evening papers in the same city separately but not counting Sunday editions. Their total circulation is about 3.3 million.

The Plain Dealer — Ohio's largest morning paper with a circulation of 377,089 on weekdays and 526,401 on Sundays — is now the largest in the Newhouse newspaper group.

Newhouse, eldest of eight children of Russian immigrant parents, also owns television and radio stations and magazines.

A source close to Newhouse, who began to acquire control of newspapers 56 years ago, said today he is still in the market for another good newspaper publishing proposition.

Newhouse started running newspapers at the age of 16, when he was put in charge of the rundown Bayonne (N.J.) Times. He soon had the paper in the black.

The 125-year-old Cleveland Plain Dealer, which employs about 2,200 persons, announced sale of the paper Thursday. No price was announced.

The reported $50-million price tag broke a record set by Newhouse in 1962 when he paid $41 million for the New Orleans Times-Picayune and the New Orleans States-Item.

Although complicated tax rulings remain to be clarified, Newhouse reportedly purchased 91 per cent of the 100,000 shares of Cleveland Plain Dealer stock at $500 a share, with an agreement to buy the remaining 9 per cent at the same price — for a total of $50 million. He is said to have financed the purchase partly through banks and partly from his own resources.

Newhouse has made it a practice to leave the editorial and personnel management of the newspapers he acquires in local hands, and the practice will be followed at the Cleveland Plain Dealer following its purchase from the Forest City Publishing Co.

ALLIANCE, Ohio—The Thomson newspaper interests announced the purchase of The Alliance Review this week.

Drug Aide Speaks

Kiwanians Hear Report On Misuse Of Medicines

The hazards of the misuse of medicines were discussed by a representative of a drug concern at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

James Johnson of Beaver Falls, representative of the Smith, Kline & French Co. of Philadelphia, spoke on the abuse of drug use by adults and juveniles across the nation.

Johnson said he was not referring to narcotics or addiction, but to the use of regular medicines for unauthorized purposes.

—:—

THE CHIEF drug offenders are the amphetamines and barbiturates, he stated.

The amphetamines are stimulants employed for weight control, nasal sprays, unnatural sleepiness, air sickness and other illnesses.

Barbiturates are sedatives which aid high blood pressure, tension, insomnia and other nerve disorders.

Johnson said neither is dangerous if taken as prescribed, but used to excess or improperly can be very dangerous.

He said many people experiment with drugs, or by-pass their own physicians to use them. Some exchange them with relatives or friends.

Adults use them to excess to escape reality or to achieve pleasure, he pointed out, saying the medicine is serving as a psychological crutch, "a chemical curtain to hide reality."

Young people are generally motivated by the desire for "kicks" — thrill or excitement— and in most cases take part as part of the "crowd" thing to do.

MANY DRUGS find their way into public use from illegal inter - state traffic, from unethical drug firms or are taken from the regular legal drug channels, he said.

The federal law of 1966 which established registration of drug firms and record checks of their production greatly aided in control of illegal drug traffic.

But there is a great need for education of young people against use of drugs and for adult misuse, Johnson said.

"We must emphasize that only the emotionally maladjusted and weak need drugs to hide from reality and only the dull and ignorant need drugs to obtain enjoyment."

Johnson was introduced by Dayton Allen, program chairman. Ronald Mason, vice president, was in charge.

Chou's Star Rises Higher Over Peking

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai's star rose higher over turbulent Red China today with an indication from Peking that Mao Tse-tung has given him some of the military authority of Defense Minister Lin Piao.

The Maoist-controlled New China News Agency reported that Chou spoke at a Red Guard rally Feb. 22 on behalf of Mao, Lin and the Communist party central committee's military affairs commission, the country's supreme military body.

Chou has not been listed as a member of the commission, which Mao heads with Lin as its active director. Continuing reports of agitation against units of the 2.5-million-man Chinese army may have prompted Mao to name Chou to the military commission. As a vice chairman of it, he would be empowered to issue orders to the army, which Lin presumably has not been able to do for some unexplained reason.

However, the Peking report made clear that Lin is still No. 2 to Mao, referring to him as Mao's "close comrade-in-arms," a distinction accorded no one else.

Lin, who suffers periodically from tuberculosis, has not been reported seen in Peking since last November.

There have been unconfirmed but persistent reports of army rebellion against Mao in Tibet, Sinkiang, Inner Mongolia and Szechuan Province.

Experts Look For Upsurge In Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) —Some call the economic situation a slowdown. Others see it as a pause, a readjustment or just plain sluggishness.

But government experts are unanimous in one view — the current picture is far removed from a recession, which they believe just isn't in the cards.

Administration officials, despite a marked slowing in economic activity, continue to look for an upsurge later this year and contend the current sluggishness was anticipated fully when President Johnson recommended a 6 per cent surtax to go into effect July 1.

Some private experts have expressed fear the tax increase might force a downturn or even a recession.

Production dropped sharply in January and the experts expect the government index to show another drop in February, especially in view of falling auto sales.

Retail sales virtually were unchanged in January but employment increased that month, the latest for which figures are available.

Government figures on corporate profits have not been compiled for the last three months of 1966.

One government analyst said a resurgence in housing construction, increased state and local spending and the new Social Security benefits proposed by Johnson are some reasons to expect an upturn in economic activity.

The government's prediction for a 4 per cent rise in real growth this year still stands, he said.

But the first quarter rise in Gross National Product, the value of all goods and services produced in the economy, could be the smallest in more than two years.

It's believed that GNP might increase by less than $10 billion during the first three months of the year, the lowest since the $6.3-billion increase for the last quarter of 1964.

A Federal Reserve Board spokesman said this week's easing of bank credit, by dropping from 4 per cent to 3 per cent the amount of reserves banks must hold against savings accounts, was taken against the backdrop of slower economic activity.

The government completed Thursday the economic picture for January by reporting a substantial decline in new factory orders and a continuing increase in inventories.

Rising inventories frequently precede an economic downturn.

The Commerce Department said new orders for durable goods dropped 6.7 per cent instead of the 5.1 per cent reported earlier. This factor is supposed to indicate future economic activities.

But housing starts, the same type of leading economic indicator, rose substantially during January as they had the previous two months.

With unemployment low, industrial output down, retail sales unchanged and personal income up substantially, even the Commerce Department said January was a very mixed business month.

Geneva Receives Gift Of $360,000

BEAVER FALLS — Geneva College has received a gift in excess of $360,000 in cash and securities from the William M. Allison Trust Fund of Chicago.

The unrestricted gift, largest single contribution ever received by the college, was made public today by Dr. Edwin C. Clarke, Geneva president.

Allison, a noted Chicago capitalist and civic leader, died Nov. 23, 1966 in Palm Beach, Fla.

A native of Aliquippa, Allison attended Geneva from 1923 to 1926.

In addition to Geneva's gift, Allison's trust fund, established in 1957, provided for contributions to several other educational institutions, including the University of Pittsburgh, and to a hospital.

At the time of his death, Allison's trust fund was valued at $2,800,000.

$50 Million Price Tag For Plain Dealer

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel I. Newhouse has purchased the Cleveland Plain Dealer — reportedly for $50 million, the highest price paid for a single newspaper in the history of American journalism.

The short and peppery 72-year-old Newhouse now has 22 newspapers coast to coast, counting morning and evening papers in the same city separately but not counting Sunday editions. Their total circulation is about 3.3 million.

The Plain Dealer — Ohio's largest morning paper with a circulation of 377,089 on weekdays and 526,401 on Sundays — is now the largest in the Newhouse newspaper group.

Newhouse, eldest of eight children of Russian immigrant parents, also owns television and radio stations and magazines.

A source close to Newhouse, who began to acquire control of newspapers 56 years ago, said today he is still in the market for another good newspaper publishing proposition.

Newhouse started running newspapers at the age of 16, when he was put in charge of the rundown Bayonne (N.J.) Times. He soon had the paper in the black.

The 125-year-old Cleveland Plain Dealer, which employs about 2,200 persons, announced sale of the paper Thursday. No price was announced.

The reported $50-million price tag broke a record set by Newhouse in 1962 when he paid $41 million for the New Orleans Times-Picayune and the New Orleans States-Item.

Although complicated tax rulings remain to be clarified, Newhouse reportedly purchased 91 per cent of the 100,000 shares of Cleveland Plain Dealer stock at $500 a share, with an agreement to buy the remaining 9 per cent at the same price — for a total of $50 million. He is said to have financed the purchase partly through banks and partly from his own resources.

Newhouse has made it a practice to leave the editorial and personnel management of the newspapers he acquires in local hands, and the practice will be followed at the Cleveland Plain Dealer following its purchase from the Forest City Publishing Co.

Drug Aide Speaks

Kiwanians Hear Report On Misuse Of Medicines

The hazards of the misuse of medicines were discussed by a representative of a drug concern at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

James Johnson of Beaver Falls, representative of the Smith, Kline & French Co. of Philadelphia, spoke on the abuse of drug use by adulte and juveniles across the nation.

Johnson said he was not referring to narcotics or addiction, but to the use of regular medicines for unauthorized purposes.

THE CHIEF drug offenders are the amphetamines and barbiturates, he stated.

The amphetamines are stimulants employed for weight control, nasal sprays, unnatural sleepiness, air sickness and other illnesses.

Barbiturates are sedatives which aid high blood pressure, tension, insomnia and other nerve disorders.

Johnson said neither is dangerous if taken as prescribed, but used to excess or improperly can be very dangerous.

He said many people experiment with drugs, or by-pass their own physicians to use them. Some exchange them with relatives or friends.

Adults use them to excess to escape reality or to achieve pleasure, he pointed out, saying the medicine is serving as a psychological crutch, "a chemical curtain to hide reality."

Young people are generally motivated by the desire for "kicks" — thrill or excitement— and in most cases take part as part of the "crowd" thing to do.

MANY DRUGS find their way into public use from illegal inter - state traffic, from unethical drug firms or are taken from the regular legal drug channels, he said.

The federal law of 1966 which established registration of drug firms and record checks of their production greatly aided in control of illegal drug traffic.

But there is a great need for education of young people against use of drugs and for adult misuse, Johnson said.

"We must emphasize that only the emotionally maladjusted and weak need drugs to hide from reality and only the dull and ignorant need drugs to obtain enjoyment."

Johnson was introduced by Dayton Allen, program chairman. Ronald Mason, vice president, was in charge.

Chou's Star Rises Higher Over Peking

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai's star rose higher over turbulent Red China today with an indication from Peking that Mao Tse-tung has given him some of the military authority of Defense Minister Lin Piao.

The Maoist-controlled New China News Agency reported that Chou spoke at a Red Guard rally Feb. 22 on behalf of Mao, Lin and the Communist party central committee's military affairs commission, the country's supreme military body.

Chou has not been listed as a member of the commission, which Mao heads with Lin as its active director. Continuing reports of agitation against units of the 2.5-million-man Chinese army may have prompted Mao to name Chou to the military commission. As a vice chairman of it, he would be empowered to issue orders to the army, which Lin presumably has not been able to do for some unexplained reason.

However, the Peking report made clear that Lin is still No. 2 to Mao, referring to him as Mao's "close comrade-in-arms," a distinction accorded no one else.

Lin, who suffers periodically from tuberculosis, has not been reported seen in Peking since last November.

There have been unconfirmed but persistent reports of army rebellion against Mao in Tibet, Sinkiang, Inner Mongolia and Szechuan Province.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The other evening I was with a group of new friends. Most of them did not know I am a registered nurse. Two of the women present do volunteer work in a hospital. For no reason whatever they began to speak in an unbelievably vicious way about nurses.

One woman said, "All nurses are sadists. The reason they go into nursing is because they enjoy seeing people suffer. They take delight in witnessing grief and pain and death. They are hard-boiled females without a single decent emotion."

I was shocked. I recalled the times I had gone home heartsick after trying to console anguished parents who learned that their child had an incurable illness. I recalled the times I was moved to tears by the death of a young husband or the agony of a mother who had given birth to a stillborn baby.

How can people say nurses are sadistic and hard-boiled? Why did these women speak so disparagingly about some of the finest people in the world? — R.N.

Dear R.N.: Because the slanderers are unhappy and unfulfilled failures. People who are unable to build something must destroy something. Forget about these miserable wretches. They're not worth your wrath.

Out Of Frying Pan

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for a long time and I'm sorry I didn't pay more attention to your advice.

I'm 22 years old and I already know what it is to be "The Other Woman." If I could live my life over I would tell the rotten bum to get lost.

I started going with him when I was 16. He was married and I thought this made me sophisticated and glamorous.

The man's wife waited three years for him to "regain his sanity," as she put it. Then she gave him a divorce. Like a fool, I married him three weeks later.

Now I know why he always looked so nice. His wife was a wonderful shirt-ironer. She pressed his suits and even shined his shoes. I'm just no good at valet service. He yells all the time that I'm lazy — and could do better if I tried.

He never paid any attention to his kids when we were going together but now all of a sudden he misses them something awful and goes to see them four and five evenings a week — unless, of course, he's lying and going someplace else.

I'm sick of this whole rotten mess and I want out before I become pregnant and get stuck. What do you advise? — LAME-BRAIN FROM ARIZONA.

Dear Lame: I hope a divorce would not be a violation of your religious beliefs, because your life sounds miserable.

I'm sure your husband is as unhappy as you are and he probably would return to his family if he could unload you. See your clergyman, and good luck.

Confidentially

To Bittersweet: I don't see anything sweet about your sneaky little arrangement. I see a stupid, misguided girl who is headed for a peck of trouble. I hope you will read the letter above carefully. Perhaps you will see someone you know.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

McVay Named President Of Monongahela System

G. G. McVAY
New Head Of Utility,

FAIRMONT, W. Va. — Cecil G. McVay is the new president of the Monongahela Power Co.

He was elected this week during a meeting of the Board of Directors in the New York offices of the Allegheny Power System, parent company.

McVay succeeds Donald M. Kammert as president of the utility. Kammert becomes executive vice president of the Allegheny system.

McVay was elected executive vice president of Monongahela Power in August last year. His service with Allegheny Power companies dates back to 1937 when, shortly after graduation from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, he became a relief hydro and substation operator with the Northern Virginia Power Co., a subsidiary of the Potomac Edison Co., one of Monongahela's sister companies in the APS system.

Prior to World War II, McVay served at Front Royal and Winchester, Va., and with Potomac Edison in Hagerstown, Cumberland and Williamsport, Md., as a junior engineer.

He served in the Army from 1941 to 1945, rising to the rank of lieutenant colonel. He spent a year with the construction of the Alaskan highway and two years in the European theater. On the continent, he commanded the 1st Battalion of the 95th Engineer Regiment.

He returned to Potomac Edison in 1945.

McVay, a native of Clearbrook, Va., is the sixth president of Monongahela Power.

Proper Address Emphasized In Obtaining License Plates

In addition to the 34 per cent, other distributions from the $10 tag fees call for 5 per cent to the counties, with each county receiving 1-88th; 9 per cent to the counties on a total road mileage ratio basis; 47 per cent to the counties of registration and 5 per cent to townships on a township road mileage ratio basis.

"Passenger car license tag fees," Ursu pointed out, "are the largest source of funds for your local streets and highways."

The County Engineers Association of Ohio is on record in favor of an increase in motor vehicle registration fees to finance additions and improvements facing local government units in this field in the next five or 10 years, Ursu reminded.

The importance of providing a proper address when obtaining 1967 license plates was emphasized today by Columbiana County Engineer John Ursu.

Money obtained from the sale of passenger car plates is returned to local governments for highways, streets and bridges. The entire $10 fee is returned to local governments, he pointed out.

Under the distribution formula, 34 per cent is distributed to municipalities if the owner lives within the municipality. In the event the owner resides in a rural area, the 34 per cent goes to the county.

"Your mail address," Ursu emphasized, "may not be your legal address for the purposes of this money distribution. You should make certain and call to your license registrar's attention the exact location of your residence."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The other evening I was with a group of new friends. Most of them did not know I am a registered nurse. Two of the women present do volunteer work in a hospital. For no reason whatever they began to speak in an unbelievably vicious way about nurses.

One woman said, "All nurses are sadists. The reason they go into nursing is because they enjoy seeing people suffer. They take delight in witnessing grief and pain and death. They are hard-boiled females without a single decent emotion."

I was shocked. I recalled the times I had gone home heartsick after trying to console anguished parents who learned that their child had an incurable illness. I recalled the times I was moved to tears by the death of a young husband or the agony of a mother who had given birth to a stillborn baby.

How can people say nurses are sadistic and hard-boiled? Why did these women speak so disparagingly about some of the finest people in the world? — R.N.

Dear R.N.: Because the slanderers are unhappy and unfulfilled failures. People who are unable to build something must destroy something. Forget about these miserable wretches. They're not worth your wrath.

Out Of Frying Pan

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for a long time and I'm sorry I didn't pay more attention to your advice.

I'm 22 years old and I already know what it is to be "The Other Woman." If I could live my life over I would tell the rotten bum to get lost.

I started going with him when I was 16. He was married and I thought this made me sophisticated and glamorous.

The man's wife waited three years for him to "regain his sanity," as she put it. Then she gave him a divorce. Like a fool, I married him three weeks later.

Now I know why he always looked so nice. His wife was a wonderful shirt-ironer. She pressed his suits and even shined his shoes. I'm just no good at valet service. He yells all the time that I'm lazy — and could do better if I tried.

He never paid any attention to his kids when we were going together but now all of a sudden he misses them something awful and goes to see them four and five evenings a week — unless, of course, he's lying and going someplace else.

I'm sick of this whole rotten mess and I want out before I become pregnant and get stuck. What do you advise? — LAME-BRAIN FROM ARIZONA.

Dear Lame: I hope a divorce would not be a violation of your religious beliefs, because your life sounds miserable.

I'm sure your husband is as unhappy as you are and he probably would return to his family if he could unload you. See your clergyman, and good luck.

Confidentially

To Bittersweet: I don't see anything sweet about your sneaky little arrangement. I see a stupid, misguided girl who is headed for a peck of trouble. I hope you will read the letter above carefully. Perhaps you will see someone you know.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Evenly Matched Field Vies In District Tourney Play Tonight At Steubenville

THE EAST LIVERPOOL Potters were set to take the floor tonight against Coshocton in a bid to bring the school its first District tournament title in 20 years. The six players who will see most of the action tonight at Steubenville include, left-to-right, Vern Smith, Mitchell Jones, Earl Diddle, Mike McVay, Darryl Herring and Bruce Christian.

Potters Seek First Crown Since '47; 3 Teams On Long Win Streaks

A well matched field of four teams opens the District Class AA tournament at Steubenville tonight with the East Liverpool Potters going after their first district title since 1947.

The last time the Potters won a title they went all the way to the state finals before bowing to Middletown in the 1947 State final.

East Liverpool (16-5) meets Coshocton (17-3) in the opener tonight at 7 while high scoring Bellaire (17-3) faces New Philadelphia (16-4) in the nightcap at 8:30.

Tonight's survivors return Saturday to battle for the championship and a ticket to the Regional tournament next week at the Fairgrounds in Columbus.

Saturday night's championship game will get under way about 8:30 following the District Class A final at 7 p. m.

Three of the four District qualifiers will be streaking into tonight's tournament all showing long winning streaks.

EAST Liverpool carries an 11-game streak into the tournament while Bellaire owns a 15-game string and New Philadelphia shows 12 straight victories.

Coshocton, was beaten in its next to last game of the regular season by Mt. Vernon but has won its last three contests.

Coach Clinton McConnell is almost certain on four starters tonight. The Potter mentor will start Bruce Christian, 6-4, Vern Smith, 6-2, Mitchell Jones 6-5 and Mike McVay 6-1. The fifth position will go to either Darryl Herring 5-9 senior or Earl Diddle, 5-10 junior.

HERRING played all the way in the Sectional tournament final against Big Red and was effective bringing the ball up the floor against the Steubenville press.

The Potters enter tonight's game with a definite height advantage since Coshocton's three biggest starters measure six-feet even.

However, McConnell pointed out that the Redskins are a superior shooting team that press all the way and use speed and defense to make up for the lack of height.

THE POTTERS will be depending on another outstanding defensive effort to slow the Coshocton attack.

The top scorer for the Redskins is Steve Corres, a 6-foot senior, who is averaging 22.4 per game. Corres was the leading scorer in the Cardinal Conference and was voted the league's outstanding player. He was named to the All - Eastern District team Thursday. In Coshocton's opening tournament win, Corres poured in 29 points.

STOPPING Corres won't be the Potters only problem because he is only one of four Coshocton starters who averages in the double figures.

Two 5-6 guards have shown their scoring ability for the Redskins. John Vanaman is the No 2 scorer on the team with a 13.5 average along with averaging seven assists per game. He scored 31 points in Coshocton's 74-54 Sectional final romp over Cambridge. Teaming with Vanaman is Steve Slaughter at 5-6 who is averaging 12.3 points.

Jack Stiers, a 6-foot senior is scoring at a 12.4 clip and is the team's leading rebounder.

THE ONLY starter not hitting in double figures is Tim McClaine, a six-foot junior, who is the second leading rebounder.

Two of Coshocton's three losses this season were to New Philadelphia by scores of 55-46 and 76-67.

Coach Clair Cribbs of Bellaire, voted the top mentor in the Eastern District this season, brings a high scoring club into the District.

BELLAIRE is averaging almost 90 points per game and will test any defense. A good share of Bellaire's scoring and victories have come on the home floor where Big Red plays in a "bandbox" type gymnasium.

Twice this season, Bellaire has shattered the school record by scoring 118 points against Bellaire St. John's and again against Moundsville.

Potters Are Lone Hope . . .

For the first time in many seasons, East Liverpool is the only district basketball team alive in tournament play.

Oak Glen bowed out of the West Virginia tournament in its opener Wednesday and the night before that Midland tasted defeat in Western Pennsylvania.

No other district team in Ohio is left in tournamen firing, so it's up to the Potters to carry the ball now.

A disrict tournament title has eluded East Liverpool for the past 20 years after winning the crown two consecutive seasons in 1946 and 1947. The '46 team was eliminated in the state semi-finals held that year at Toledo.

The following year, the Potters went a step farther, but were beaten in the state championship battle by Middletown.

Tonight's District tournament seems to have an evenly matched field. Three of the four teams have long winning streaks, which indicate they began to jell about mid-season or sooner and haven't lost in some time.

With the teams so equal, no favorite has been established and any one of the four could take the laurels.

At this stage of the game, all competition is tough and after this weekend only 16 teams will be left in the state.

Pairings for the Regional tournament already have been made and the winner at Steubenville wouldn't meet No. 1 Columbus East until the finals of the Regional. East is in the upper bracket of the Columbus District and the Steubenville winner would play the survivor of the lower bracket from that area, possibly Columbus Linden, a team that finished fourth in the final state rating.

TOURNAMENT NOTES: Bellaire's high-scoring Mike Sherwood, averaging 25 per game, is headed for West Virginia on a football scholarship. Sherwood was an outstanding quarterback in football.

We understand if he can handle the load, Sherwood will be permitted to play freshman basketball along with football at West Virginia.

BELLAIRE'S veteran coach Clair Cribbs, former Pitt star, has his son as one of the team's starters. Young Cribbs is a 6-2 senior and averages 12 points per game .

THE POTTERS will have some solid backing tonight at Steubenville from the adult fans and student body.

Harold Ginder, ticket manager reported that almost 500 adult tickets have been sold here for tonight's game and over 400 student tickets have been purchased.

At least six student Booster Club buses have been chartered for the game.

IF A proposed bet is accepted, an East Liverpool victory tonight against Coshocton in the District tournament at Steubenville will be the "sweeter" for employes of the Ohio Power Co. office here.

In a challenge to John Kah and Bill Black of the Coshocton office and formerly of the local office, employes here have offered to wager a five-pound box of candy with the statement "We have the best basketball team in the division (Ohio Power).

The deadline for the Coshocton office to accept the wager was set for 5 p.m. today. If no answer by then, the bet is off.

Bridgeport Ruled Out . . .

BRIDGEPORT High School was declared ineligible for further tournament play Thursday because it used an overage player and Wayne High got a new life in the tourney.

Bridgeport defeated Wayne in the Sectional Class A final at Steubenville by four points last week.

The ruling making Bridgeport ineligible was handed down by the Ohio High School Athletic Association after the principal of Wayne High School produced the proper evidence.

The player in question was Sherrod Clark and the tournament eligibility list carried Clark's birthday as Oct. 3. It was learned that Clark was born in Pittsburgh on Nov. 4 and that he was 19 years old before Nov. 1, 1966, making him ineligible for participation in basketball.

Weyers Named At Pitt . . .

NAMED as an assistant coach on Dave Hart's football staff at Pitt the other day was Howard Weyers, the former East Palestine High coach who had accepted the head coaching job at East Liverpool in 1964 before changing his mind.

Weyers had been an assistant coach at Columbia University the past two seasons. He turned in a 28-2 record at East Palestine and guided the Bulldogs to two unbeaten seasons.

After leaving East Palestine, Weyers went to Maple Heights for two seasons. Following the resignation of Bob Hedmond at East Liverpool, Weyers was selected as the new Potters grid mentor, but before signing the contract, he changed his mind a few days later and did not accept the post here.

Weyers was not offered the athletic director's job here and that was the main reason for his final decision.

He is a native of Greenville, Pa., and was a four-year letterman at Thiel College.

The event is being staged at the IBOP office building on Route 7.

The Notre Dame players will arrive at Pittsburgh Airport Saturday afternoon and go directly for a television interview at Steubenville before proceeding to East Liverpool.

Jinx Seems To Follow Teams Picked For Post-Season College Tourneys

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There seems to be a jinx for most teams once they are named to compete in college basketball's two major postseason tournaments, the NCAA and the NIT.

Five of the first 11 teams to qualify for the NCAA have been beaten since then. And six of the first seven picked for the NIT have lost.

Louisville, Western Kentucky, Connecticut, Virginia Tech and New Mexico State were the beaten NCAA teams. Syracuse, St. Peter's of New Jersey, Rutgers, Marquette, Memphis State and Utah State were the NIT picks to fall.

Tulsa, one of the later teams to be tapped for the NIT, joined the beaten parade Thursday night. The Hurricane was upset by Drake 62-59 at Des Moines, Iowa, as Eldridge Webb, Tulsa's star, managed only 12 points.

Willie McCarter broke a 56-56 tie to put Drake ahead for good with less than three minutes left. Erwin Cox's basket and free throw with four seconds to go sewed it up for the underdog Bulldogs who had absorbed a 82-54 drubbing from Tulsa earlier in the season.

Dolph Pulliam's 13 points were high for Drake. Bobby Smith got 18 for Tulsa. It was the seventh defeat against 18 victories for the Hurricane.

St. John's of New York, Virginia Tech, Southern Methodist, Marquette and Utah State, other tournament-bound teams, won while West Virginia, Davidson, Richmond and William and Mary scored in the first round of the Southern Conference championship tourney. All of the Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll were idle.

Wyoming beat Denver 64-62. Wichita edged North Texas 74-73 and Iowa State whipped Oklahoma State 84-71 in other games.

Sonny Dove led St. John's in a second half comeback that gave the Redmen a 55-51 triumph over NYU for their ninth in a row and 21st success against three defeats.

Dove scored 18 points, 13 of them in the second half as the Redmen erased a 10-point deficit. It was the feature of a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden. Manhattan Downed Fordham 87-79 in the opener.

Virginia Tech beat Virginia 76-60 at Blacksburg, Marquette downed Detroit 71-64 at Milwaukee, Wis., and Utah State squeezed by Montana State 84-83 at Bozeman, Mont., as the Gobblers, Warriors and Aggies got back on the winning path. SMU, the Southwest Conference champs, humbled Texas 92-83 at Dallas.

West Virginia crushed East Carolina 82-53, Davidson downed Furman 64-55, William and Mary defeated George Washington 76-66 and Richmond edged Citadel 100-98 in overtime in the Southern Conference tourney at Charlotte, N.C. West Virginia meets Richmond and Davidson takes on William and Mary in the semifinals tonight.

Marshall University was named to the NIT Thursday leaving three teams still to be picked to fill the 14-team field. Marshall, 17-6, will meet Villanova and St. Peters will face Southern Illinois in the opening first-round doubleheader next Thursday night.

Scholler Resigns Cage Post At Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Warren Scholler resigned today as head basketball coach at Bowling Green State University after a disappointing season in which the Falcons, pre-season favorite to win the Mid-American Conference title, had a 11-13 record.

"I was disappointed with the season and the record we had —there has been no pressure. It was my decision," Scholler commented.

BGU Athletic Director Doyt Perry, in accepting the resignation, said, "I accepted the resignation realizing how hard a season it has been for Warren. He insisted upon playing some of the finest teams in the nation, which provided us with some of the top competition in college basketball."

Scholler said he had no definite plans, but there were reports he would remain with the university's health and physical education department.

Scholler had guided the Falcons cagers for the last four years in which his teams had a record of 43 wins and 52 defeats.

Perry said there has been no moves made as yet to find a new coach.

Before going to Bowling Green, Scholler compiled a fine record coaching at Hamilton, his home town. His Big Blue squads won the state championship in 1949 and 1954 and finished as runnerup in 1951. Under his guidance, Hamilton won more than 80 per cent of its games, marking up a 196-46 record.

Evenly Matched Field Vies In District Tourney Play Tonight At Steubenville

THE EAST LIVERPOOL Potters were set to take the floor tonight against Coshocton in a bid to bring the school its first District tournament title in 20 years. The six players who will see most of the action tonight at Steubenville include, left-to-right, Vern Smith, Mitchell Jones, Earl Diddle, Mike McVay, Darryl Herring and Bruce Christian.

Potters Seek First Crown Since '47; 3 Teams On Long Win Streaks

A well matched field of four teams opens the District Class AA tournament at Steubenville tonight with the East Liverpool Potters going after their first district title since 1947.

The last time the Potters won a title they went all the way to the state finals before bowing to Middletown in the 1947 State final.

East Liverpool (16-5) meets Coshocton (17-3) in the opener tonight at 7 while high scoring Bellaire (17-3) faces New Philadelphia (16-4) in the nightcap at 8:30.

Tonight's survivors return Saturday to battle for the championship and a ticket to the Regional tournament next week at the Fairgrounds in Columbus.

Saturday night's championship game will get under way about 8:30 following the District Class A final at 7 p. m.

Three of the four District qualifiers will be streaking into tonight's tournament all showing long winning streaks.

EAST Liverpool carries an 11-game streak into the tournament while Bellaire owns a 15-game string and New Philadelphia shows 12 straight victories.

Coshocton, was beaten in its next to last game of the regular season by Mt. Vernon but has won its last three contests.

Coach Clinton McConnell is almost certain on four starters tonight. The Potter mentor will start Bruce Christian, 6-4, Vern Smith, 6-2, Mitchell Jones 6-5 and Mike McVay 6-1. The fifth position will go to either Darryl Herring 5-9 senior or Earl Diddle, 5-10 junior.

—:—

HERRING played all the way in the Sectional tournament final against Big Red and was effective bringing the ball up the floor against the Steubenville press.

The Potters enter tonight's game with a definite height advantage since Coshocton's three biggest starters measure six-feet even.

However, McConnell pointed out that the Redskins are a superior shooting team that press all the way and use speed and defense to make up for the lack of height.

THE POTTERS will be depending on another outstanding defensive effort to slow the Coshocton attack.

The top scorer for the Redskins is Steve Corres, a 6-foot senior, who is averaging 22.4 per game. Corres was the leading scorer in the Cardinal Conference and was voted the league's outstanding player. He was named to the All - Eastern District team Thursday. In Coshocton's opening tournament win, Corres poured in 29 points.

STOPPING Corres won't be the Potters only problem because he is only one of four Coshocton starters who averages in the double figures.

Two 5-6 guards have shown their scoring ability for the Redskins. John Vanaman is the No. 2 scorer on the team with a 13.5 average along with averaging seven assists per game. He scored 31 points in Coshocton's 74-54 Sectional final romp over Cambridge. Teaming with Vanaman is Steve Slaughter at 5-6 who is averaging 12.3 points.

Jack Stiers, a 6-foot senior is scoring at a 12.4 clip and is the team's leading rebounder.

THE ONLY starter not hitting in double figures is Tim McClaine, a six-foot junior, who is the second leading rebounder.

Two of Coshocton's three losses this season were to New Philadelphia by scores of 55-46 and 76-67.

LARRY MARTIN
Outstanding Linebacker For Notre Dame

Notre Dame Stars Appear Saturday At Sports Night

James McGowan has been named master of ceremonies for a "Sports Night" benefit of St. Aloysius Elementary School in East Liverpool on Saturday night, March 4, featuring three stars of the 1966 Notre Dame unbeaten football team, a film of season highlights, and a buffet dinner.

The visiting Irish trio, Captain Jim Lynch, fullback Larry Conjar, and linebacker Dave Martin, will bring a football autographed by the entire Notre Dame squad and Coach Ara Parsegian. It will be awarded as a prize to a "Sports Night" patron.

Other entertainment will include selections by a musical group from East Liverpool High School. The affair will take place at 8 p. m. at the new International Brotherhood of Operative Potters office building on Ohio Route 7, about five miles north of East Liverpool.

Martin, the junior linebacker, is from Roeland Park, Kansas. On an Irish team that yielded only 38 points in a 9-0-1 season—only one point more than the college leader, Alabama, Martin made 62 tackles, broke up 10 enemy passes, and blocked one kick. Lynch led the team in tackles with 106.

About 200 persons are expected at Saturday night's salute to Notre Dame. Tickets are $5 and proceeds will be used for retiring bonds on the St. Aloysius Elementary School in East Liverpool. James McGowan and Steve Chema are co-chairmen of the sponsoring committee, and on the committee are John E. Johnston, James Purton, Richard Bangor, Cari Pelini, Harry McConville and Ed Hester.

Area fans may purchase tickets at Heimie's and Reark's in East Liverpool, Martell's Men's Shop and Verzella's Service Station in Midland, and at Knights of Columbus halls in Wellsville, East Liverpool, Weirton, and Midland.

Reservations can be made today and Saturday by calling Hester at 385-4319.

Illinois U. Asks Leniency In Case

CHICAGO (AP) — The jury of Big Ten faculty representatives deliberated Friday the sentence for the University of Illinois, which has admitted recruiting irregularities and has asked for leniency.

Marcus Plant of Michigan, secretary of the faculty group and president of the NCAA, said he was not certain exactly when a decision would be announced. The annual March business meetings of the conference end Saturday.

University President Dr. David D. Henry, faculty representative and acting athletic director Leslie Bryan, and university attorney James Costello presented a day-long appeal by Illinois Thursday.

The session started with a 45-minute appeal from Dr. Henry for a softening of last week's mandate by the conference's athletic directors that Illinois fire coaches Pete Elliott, Harry Combes and Howard Braun or show cause why the university should not be suspended or expelled from the Big Ten.

The coaches are guilty of distributing payments from an illegal $21,000 petty fund uncovered by the university in December. Dr. Henry turned all evidence over to the Big Ten, placed Elliott and Combes on a year's probation and ruled 12 football and basketball players ineligible.

It was disclosed Thursday that actually there were 14 cases presented involving athletes. Their eligibility also is being studied by the faculty men.

LARRY MARTIN
Outstanding Linebacker For Notre Dame

Notre Dame Stars Appear Saturday At Sports Night

James McGowan has been named master of ceremonies for a "Sports Night" benefit of St. Aloysius Elementary School in East Liverpool on Saturday night, March 4, featuring three stars of the 1966 Notre Dame unbeaten football team, a film of season highlights, and a buffet dinner.

The visiting Irish trio, Captain Jim Lynch, fullback Larry Conjar, and linebacker Dave Martin, will bring a football autographed by the entire Notre Dame squad and Coach Ara Parsegian. It will be awarded as a prize to a "Sports Night" patron.

Other entertainment will include selections by a musical group from East Liverpool High School. The affair will take place at 8 p. m. at the new International Brotherhood of Operative Potters office building on Ohio Route 7, about five miles north of East Liverpool.

Martin, the junior linebacker, is from Roeland Park, Kansas. On an Irish team that yielded only 38 points in a 9-0-1 season—only one point more than the college leader, Alabama, Martin made 62 tackles, broke up 10 enemy passes, and blocked one kick. Lynch led the team in tackles with 106.

About 200 persons are expected at Saturday night's salute to Notre Dame. Tickets are $5 and proceeds will be used for retiring bonds on the St. Aloysius Elementary School in East Liverpool. James McGowan and Steve Chema are co-chairmen of the sponsoring committee, and on the committee are John E. Johnston, James Purton, Richard Bangor, Cari Pelini, Harry McConville and Ed Hester.

Area fans may purchase tickets at Heimie's and Reark's in East Liverpool, Martell's Men's Shop and Verzella's Service Station in Midland, and at Knights of Columbus halls in Wellsville, East Liverpool, Weirton, and Midland.

Reservations can be made today and Saturday by calling Hester at 385-4319.

Illinois U. Asks Leniency In Case

CHICAGO (AP) — The jury of Big Ten faculty representatives deliberated Friday the sentence for the University of Illinois, which has admitted recruiting irregularities and has asked for leniency.

Marcus Plant of Michigan, secretary of the faculty group and president of the NCAA, said he was not certain exactly when a decision would be announced. The annual March business meetings of the conference end Saturday.

University President Dr. David D. Henry, faculty representative and acting athletic director Leslie Bryan, and university attorney James Costello presented a day-long appeal by Illinois Thursday.

The session started with a 45-minute appeal from Dr. Henry for a softening of last week's mandate by the conference's athletic directors that Illinois fire coaches Pete Elliott, Harry Combes and Howard Braun or show cause why the university should not be suspended or expelled from the Big Ten.

The coaches are guilty of distributing payments from an illegal $21,000 petty fund uncovered by the university in December. Dr. Henry turned all evidence over to the Big Ten, placed Elliott and Combes on a year's probation and ruled 12 football and basketball players ineligible.

It was disclosed Thursday that actually there were 14 cases presented involving athletes. Their eligibility also is being studied by the faculty men.

Mt. Lebanon Is Winner In 3 Overtimes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It took three overtimes to do it, but Mount Lebanon has earned a spot in the finals of the WPIAL Class A basketball tournament.

Mount Lebanon defeated Laurel Highlands Thursday night, 82-75.

Mount Lebanon's Vic Surma forced the first overtime by sinking two foul shots for a 66-66 tie. Jim Hobgood of Laurel Highlands tossed in a desperation shot from midcourt for a 72-72 tie which forced the final overtime.

Mount Lebanon meets the winner of tonight's Ambridge-Fox Chapel game for the championship on March 7.

Mt. Lebanon is coached by Dick Black, formerly of Midland.

Job Mystery

Lucrative Positions Don't Pay Off

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warren Davidson held the three-page mimeographed contract labeled "Mara Laboratories, Inc."

It contained three signatures including his and promised him two years of lucrative employment.

But Davidson can't find his employer. Nor can seven other aerospace workers who, with contracts in their pockets, severed roots in Florida and drove to Los Angeles.

The men were told they would be working for $200 to $300 a week producing a revolutionary nuclear engine under a $6-million advance on a 14-year federal contract. Most of them are not working anywhere.

One family sleeps on an apartment floor because movers won't release their furniture.

One man made a down payment on a house reportedly worth $40,000 and has no salary to make the payments. Another found the house he had bought was owned by somebody else.

Two have found jobs but all are living on borrowed money.

They — and the FBI — wonder why. If it was a fraud scheme, it was hardly worth the trouble. Two men say they gave $1,215 to a man to make down payments on Southern California houses. No other money changed hands.

Davidson, 28, a slender, crewcut veteran of 10 years as an Army electronics technician, sat Thursday in his small apartment in Canoga Park, one of several suburbs dotted with aerospace company plants.

Fingering his contract, he described how a large advertisement in an Orlando newspaper attracted him, his wife and two daughters — and 19 other persons — from jobs near Cape Kennedy.

"We went through a regular interview. I was hired the first time. Everything was absolutely believable. All of us were hired as production supervisors. I signed the contract the 26th of October."

Davidson and the others were told they would set up a production line Feb. 1 in a 2,000-man plant near Newhall, 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles. When Davidson arrived here he drove to the Van Nuys address listed on his contract. It was an empty suite in a building housing an FBI office.

He learned who the other contract-holders were from the company that moved their furniture. There were nine then, but one returned to Florida after two payless weeks.

The rest stayed. And their money dwindled. Davidson said he was down to 30 cents when he borrowed $5 from one of the others, leaving the other with $5.

Physicist Jim McFadden turned his car keys over to the manager of his motel to forestall eviction.

"We were all complete nervous wrecks," said Davidson, when Mara called from Miami and said paychecks were in the mail. They were told production was delayed until March 1.

More waiting. Then the man who hired them appeared in Los Angeles. He paid McFadden's motel bill and gave the eight the address of the Newhall plant. Some of them drove there twice but never found it.

A few days ago he reassured his employes, saying he would show them the plant.

"That was the last we heard of him," said Davidson.

The men agreed, and told federal investigators, that he had charmed them into moving without ever giving the impression of being a fast talker. He was described as looking much like any average, successful businessman. Some think he simply disappeared when his business failed to jell.

Last Friday morning the Los Angeles Times published a story about the men. Davidson had planned to look for a job that day.

"I never got out the door," he said. The telephone rang all day. Several companies asked him to apply for a job. One simply told him to report for work. Housewives called to offer him a few dollars.

"I got out quite easily," said Davidson, "if you can call this easily." His unpaid moving bill was $480, but he had enough money when he left Florida to pay his travel expenses and settle here.

And he has found a new job with an old employer, the Army. He'll be back at work as a technician, this time in Southern California.

"This aerospace is a little too fickle," he explained with an air of incontrovertible authority.

Keep In Trim

Working With Weights

With spring getting closer, you are asking for fast toners. Fine. Try something exciting, work with weights. In this regard, a new mother has written an encouraging report. Here it is:

Ida Jean Kain

"I want to report just what I did to get my figure back. It seems I have always had loose stomach muscles. Even when I wore a tight girdle it didn't seem to help much. After my baby was born my stomach protruded and I looked just awful.

"Two months ago I bought a set of 5-pound dumbbells. I exercised with these every day, exercising while the baby took her nap. It has helped me tighten my stomach muscles and banish my midriff bulge. If the exercise can help others the way it has helped me, I am only too glad to tell your readers about it.

"I lie across the bed, on my back, but keep my feet flat on the floor. I hold a dumbbell in each hand, and slowly raise my arms to above my head and on over until my arms are hanging over the other side of the bed. Then just as slowly, I bring my arms back down to my sides.

"I started doing this for three minutes a day, then five, and gradually worked up to 10 minutes, and finally to 20. This exercise is amazingly helpful. I plan to continue until I have firm muscles.

"The nicest thing of all, my husband says I look a lot nicer in all my clothes. And I feel nicer, too."

WONDERFUL! This exercise position is safe, for your back is protected. In working with weights, some authorities recommend exercising every other day, with a day of rest in-between. Work slowly. Breathe normally. The advice is to undertrain rather than overstrain.

"Women who want to regain a youthful appearance should work with weights," advised Dr. L. E. Moorehouse, who is director of the University of California at Los Angeles Human Performance Laboratory.

Working with weights can flatten and firm up flabby stomach muscles, improve carriage, strengthen the heavy muscles under the breasts and thus improve the bustline, Dr. Moorehouse promised.

Your clothes will fit better and you'll feel like holding your head up and your shoulders straight.

Send stamped, self - addressed long envelope for Weight-Training for Curve Building. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

2 More Killed In Ohio Traffic

By The Associated Press

Single car crashes claimed at least two of Ohio's latest traffic victims:

The dead:

Gregory W. Gast, 51, New Bremen, Auglaize County.

Eugene C. Taylor, 26, Whitehouse Lucas County.

Gast was killed early Friday when his car ran off Ohio 364 near St. Marys in Auglaize County, plunged over an embankment and smashed into a tree. The body had to be pried from the wreckage.

A one-car crash on a county road near Toledo Thursday night claimed Taylor's life.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

BELVA GRIFFIN — Sacred to the memory of my dear Mother who departed this life two years ago today.

Dearest Mother, in silence you suffered, And with patience you bore, And God called you to Him To suffer no more. I took my sorrows all to you, You'd smooth my troubled brow; You always chased the cloud away, I could not forget you now. Gone into the light that shines so fair, Gone from this earth of sorrow and care. Resting those hands that did their best, Gone, dear Mother, gone to rest. What is home without my Mother? What are all the joys I meet, When your loving smile no longer greets the coming of my feet? Dearest Mother, how I miss you, Since from earth you passed away, And my heart is aching sorely, As I think of you today. Daughter, Dora; Son, William; and Grandchildren, Williamand Robert, Daughter-in-law, Ruth

Lucrative Positions Don't Pay Off

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Warren Davidson held the three-page mimeographed contract labeled "Mara Laboratories, Inc."

It contained three signatures including his and promised him two years of lucrative employment.

But Davidson can't find his employer. Nor can seven other aerospace workers who, with contracts in their pockets, severed roots in Florida and drove to Los Angeles.

The men were told they would be working for $200 to $300 a week producing a revolutionary nuclear engine under a $6-million advance on a 14-year federal contract. Most of them are not working anywhere.

One family sleeps on an apartment floor because movers won't release their furniture.

One man made a down payment on a house reportedly worth $40,000 and has no salary to make the payments. Another found the house he had bought was owned by somebody else.

Two have found jobs but all are living on borrowed money.

They — and the FBI — wonder why. If it was a fraud scheme, it was hardly worth the trouble. Two men say they gave $1,215 to a man to make down payments on Southern California houses. No other money changed hands.

Davidson, 28, a slender, crewcut veteran of 10 years as an Army electronics technician, sat Thursday in his small apartment in Canoga Park, one of several suburbs dotted with aerospace company plants.

Fingering his contract, he described how a large advertisement in an Orlando newspaper attracted him, his wife and two daughters — and 19 other persons — from jobs near Cape Kennedy.

"We went through a regular interview. I was hired the first time. Everything was absolutely believable. All of us were hired as production supervisors. I signed the contract the 26th of October."

Davidson and the others were told they would set up a production line Feb. 1 in a 2,000-man plant near Newhall, 30 miles northwest of Los Angeles. When Davidson arrived here he drove to the Van Nuys address listed on his contract. It was an empty suite in a building housing an FBI office.

He learned who the other contract-holders were from the company that moved their furniture. There were nine then, but one returned to Florida after two payless weeks.

The rest stayed. And their money dwindled. Davidson said he was down to 30 cents when he borrowed $5 from one of the others, leaving the other with $5.

Physicist Jim McFadden turned his car keys over to the manager of his motel to forestall eviction.

"We were all complete nervous wrecks," said Davidson, when Mara called from Miami and said paychecks were in the mail. They were told production was delayed until March 1.

More waiting. Then the man who hired them appeared in Los Angeles. He paid McFadden's motel bill and gave the eight the address of the Newhall plant. Some of them drove there twice but never found it.

A few days ago he reassured his employes, saying he would show them the plant.

"That was the last we heard of him," said Davidson.

The men agreed, and told federal investigators, that he had charmed them into moving without ever giving the impression of being a fast talker. He was described as looking much like any average, successful businessman. Some think he simply disappeared when his business failed to jell.

Last Friday morning the Los Angeles Times published a story about the men. Davidson had planned to look for a job that day.

"I never got out the door," he said. The telephone rang all day. Several companies asked him to apply for a job. One simply told him to report for work. Housewives called to offer him a few dollars.

"I got out quite easily," said Davidson, "if you can call this easily." His unpaid moving bill was $480, but he had enough money when he left Florida to pay his travel expenses and settle here.

And he has found a new job with an old employer, the Army. He'll be back at work as a technician, this time in Southern California.

"This aerospace is a little too fickle," he explained with an air of incontrovertible authority.

Keep In Trim

Working With Weights

With spring getting closer, you are asking for fast toners. Fine. Try something exciting, work with weights. In this regard, a new mother has written an encouraging report. Here it is:

Ida Jean Kain

"I want to report just what I did to get my figure back. It seems I have always had loose stomach muscles. Even when I wore a tight girdle it didn't seem to help much. After my baby was born my stomach protruded and I looked just awful.

"Two months ago I bought a set of 5-pound dumbbells. I exercised with these every day, exercising while the baby took her nap. It has helped me tighten my stomach muscles and banish my midriff bulge. If the exercise can help others the way it has helped me, I am only too glad to tell your readers about it.

"I lie across the bed, on my back, but keep my feet flat on the floor. I hold a dumbbell in each hand, and slowly raise my arms to above my head and on over until my arms are hanging over the other side of the bed. Then just as slowly, I bring my arms back down to my sides.

"I started doing this for three minutes a day, then five, and gradually worked up to 10 minutes, and finally to 20. This exercise is amazingly helpful. I plan to continue until I have firm muscles.

"The nicest thing of all, my husband says I look a lot nicer in all my clothes. And I feel nicer, too."

WONDERFUL! This exercise position is safe, for your back is protected. In working with weights, some authorities recommend exercising every other day, with a day of rest in-between. Work slowly. Breathe normally. The advice is to undertrain rather than overstrain.

"Women who want to regain a youthful appearance should work with weights," advised Dr. L. E. Moorehouse, who is director of the University of California at Los Angeles Human Performance Laboratory.

Working with weights can flatten and firm up flabby stomach muscles, improve carriage, strengthen the heavy muscles under the breasts and thus improve the bustline, Dr. Moorehouse promised.

Your clothes will fit better and you'll feel like holding your head up and your shoulders straight.

Send stamped, self - addressed long envelope for Weight-Training for Curve Building. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

BELVA GRIFFIN — Sacred to the memory of my dear Mother who departed this life two years ago today.
Dearest Mother, in silence you suffered, And with patience you bore, And God called you to Him To suffer no more. I took my sorrows all to you, You'd smooth my troubled brow; You always chased the cloud away, I could not forget you now. Gone into the light that shines so fair, Gone from this earth of sorrow and care. Resting those hands that did their best, Gone, dear Mother, gone to rest. What is home without my Mother? What are all the joys I meet, When your loving smile no longer greets the coming of my feet? Dearest Mother, how I miss you, Since from earth you passed away, And my heart is aching sorely, As I think of you today.

Junior Editors Quiz on INDIANS

QUESTION: Where did all the Indians go?

ANSWER: The impression given by this question is that the American Indian has disappeared from this country. This is not true. We have fewer Indians than before, but they are still with us in fairly large numbers. When the white men came, there were perhaps a million Indians north of the Rio Grande River: now, there are about 650,000. During the time white settlers were pushing westward, the Indians had a difficult time. The buffalo, on which many Indians depended for food and skins, vanished. Most Indians were removed to reservations. They began to diminish in numbers. Later, this trend was reversed. By 1920, it was realized that Indian population was increasing and great efforts to help and educate them began to be made. Many Indians have adopted the white man's ways. All Indians are free citizens of the U.S. Despite modern opportunities, however, many Indians like to live as their ancestors did, going on with their tribal dances, making their beautiful craft objects.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I repair small tears or weak spots in silk, nylon, or rayon garments?

A. — Use a piece of surgical gauze as a backing, and it will add strength to the darn without bulkiness — and almost invisible, too.

Q. — How can I make good, thin hamburgers?

A. — By placing the meat between two pieces of waxed paper and rolling with a rolling pin, or mashing between your hands (the hamburgers won't stick to the paper). Then fry them, and you'll find that hamburgers rolled thin this way will cook much more quickly.

Q.—What can I do about delicate fabrics that don't take too well to ordinary starching?

A.—Try using granulated sugar dissolved in water, instead of the usual starch.

Q.—What is a good "quick-lighting" method for use in my open fireplace?

A.—Try a kerosene - soaked brick. Soak a common building brick in kerosene for some time. Then when you want to kindle a fire, lay the kerosene-impregnated brick in the grate, pile fuel on it, and light a match. The brick will burn for up to 40 minutes and save kindling wood.

Q. — How can I make sure that my hand - knitted garments will retain their shape when laundering?

A. — After washing these articles in mild suds, pat them into proper size and shape. Dry thoroughly and then, when dry, hold your steam iron an inch above the garment, and move it slowly back and forth over the entire surface until the steam has penetrated thoroughly—never actually touching the garment with the iron.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for housewives who complain that their electric dishwashers sometimes don't get the dishes clean.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a hint for the gals who love to use bath oil in their bath water — but find it too expensive.

I use plain old baby oil. I just pour two capsful into the tub while filling it.

PEGGY SMITH.

DEAR HELOISE: For those who have wood paneling and prefer a non-showy traverse rod, try spraying the rod with an aersol can of automobile touch-up paint.

It comes in a shade that matches wood and in a small size can which is economical.

Best of all, it dries in 20 minutes and the rod is almost invisible against the wall.

Carriers can be sprayed too, but the cord must be protected or it will not pull easily.

GRACE LEE.

DEAR HELOISE: To make your chrome shine, just put a little peanut butter on a paper towel and rub. Then wipe off the excess oil or peanut butter.

This works on sinks, stoves, bathroom fixtures, etc.

A READER.

Don't laugh if you haven't tried it. It's the oil in the peanut butter than cleans and shines chrome. Just a little will do the trick.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We love the real hot kosher dill pickles, but as they are about twice the price of ordinary dill pickles, I make my own.

I buy regular dill pickles on sale in large jars, season them with salt, cayenne pepper and garlic salt, then refrigerate. I find them every bit as good, and what a saving it is on our budget.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a tip for snapshot savers. When mounting your pictures in an album, place each negative behind the mounted picture.

It's a great timesaver when someone asks you for a copy.

DEAR HELOISE: A hospital gown for home use is easily made from an old shirt.

Button the front and cut the back open from collar to bottom of hem.

This is especially nice for arthritics who are stiff in the arms, for they can just slip both hands into the sleeves in the front. The back can be buttoned, tied or pinned at the neck.

—:—

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a thrifty tip for the children.

I give my youngsters their own trading stamp books.

When they go to the store for me they get to keep the stamps.

Come holidays, or if there's something they want, they have their own books to spend.

Their allowances are not so pinched this way and they enjoy it more when they can choose from the catalog.

Hope Fades For Passage Of Higher Education Bill

CHARLESTON (AP) — Little hope was seen today for passage this session of legislation to remold West Virginia's higher education superstructure.

Several bills proposing various kinds of changes appeared bottled up in Senate and House committees and with too little pushing to get them out and to the floor.

Senate Education Committee Chairman C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, said the bills "appear to be dead."

McKown said there was little support coming from anybody to whip either of the bills out of committee in time for action this year.

Already introduced are bills to create a board of regents, another calling for the regents along with a council on education and a chancellor of higher education, and still another proposing a coordinator of higher education.

All propose to form separate boards for the state colleges, Marshall University and to retain the current board for West Virginia University.

"There's not much support for the board of regents plan or for the others," McKown said.

The House Judiciary Committee still has the board of regents bill in its folder — where it has remained since the committee received it from the House Education Committee more than a week ago.

One possibility remained — though considered remote—that the Senate committee would attempt to report out a bill to create an officer of higher education coordinator along with the separate boards.

This plan carries the endorsement of Gov. Hulett Smith and would give the coordinator sole authority to submit the total budget for all public institutions of higher education.

The State Board of Education now does this for the state colleges and Marshall University and WVU submits its own budget to the Board of Public Works.

McKown said, however, there still was little chance for action on this measure.

"No bill usually gets very far when first introduced," McKown said. "It takes awhile to find out how it really would work and who would be against it," he said.

East Germans Say They Point To 'Our Friends'

DRESDEN, East Germany (AP) — "You can always tell where 'our friends' live," the middle-aged East German said with a smile. "They are behind fences like that one with the red stars and the remarkable green paint."

He pointed to a Russian barracks area beside a road. The buildings were behind a fence painted pale green, red stars on the gates. Similar fences wall off Red army barracks all over East Germany.

Near Wittenberg, for example, machineguns atop parked armored personnel carriers peep above such a fence.

The term "our friends" is used by many East Germans with tongue in cheek, a play on such posted Communist party slogans as "everlasting friendship with the Soviet Union."

"No private citizen would put up such a sign on his own initiative," said an old man in Finsterwalde.

Next to Finsterwalde church a Soviet war memorial praises the Red army and mourns its dead. Opposite it a huge sign charges the United States with brutality in Vietnam.

revolt in 1953 that Soviet tanks put down. But the Soviets clearly remain wary and disciplined.

Western military sources in West Berlin say the Soviets have orders to stay close to their barracks and not to mingle with the East Germans to avoid trouble. A traveler passing through much of East Germany saw only one uniformed Soviet in a city at night. He walked down a Weimar street with a girl.

As tourists, however, the Soviets regularly are out in force, mainly in civilian clothes, along with wives and children of officers and noncommissioned officers.

Soviet groups follow German groups for a look at the Wartburg fortress or stand and stare at paintings in the famed Zwinger collection in Dresden. If they like what they hear, they applaud their guides.

Leading hotels are full of Soviet representatives on political or trade missions.

Though the accent is on remaining personally inconspicuous, the Soviet military presence is reaffirmed everywhere in quick glimpses. In good weather, jets roar overhead and helicopters hover. Troop trucks turn off into fields at dusk. Small truck convoys roll up and down autobahn superhighways day and night. Soviet jeeps stand in a row in the harbor at Rostock.

The Soviets seem to have a speed limit of their own, much lower than the official 62 miles an hour on the autobahn. Their vehicles have no special markings except for yellow license plates.

Despite the frequency of such appearances, however, there is no impression that major troop movements are under way.

The Soviet war memorials in many East German cities, towns and villages point up the absence of German military cemeteries.

"German World War II dead are buried in our regular cemeteries," said a Communist official in Frankfurt-On-Oder.

Said a private citizen: "They left us our World War I memorials. They would not have dared go as far as to tear them down."

Both Communists and non-Communists say the Soviet memorials are hardly noticed anymore, whether they are made of ugly white plaster, as in Stralsund, or are majestic and graceful, as in Dresden.

"After awhile you forget they are there," is the general opinion.

Time heals much, and it would appear to be a mistake to say there is still intense bitterness toward the estimated 400,000 Soviet forces in East Germany.

The victorious invasion of the Red army in 1945 and the often brutal immediate consequences are long past, as is the abortive

DEAR HELOISE: For those who have wood paneling and prefer a non-showy traverse rod, try spraying the rod with an aersol can of automobile touch-up paint.

It comes in a shade that matches wood and in a small size can which is economical.

Best of all, it dries in 20 minutes and the rod is almost invisible against the wall.

Carriers can be sprayed too, but the cord must be protected or it will not pull easily.

DEAR HELOISE: To make your chrome shine, just put a little peanut butter on a paper towel and rub. Then wipe off the excess oil or peanut butter.

This works on sinks, stoves, bathroom fixtures, etc.

A READER.

Don't laugh if you haven't tried it. It's the oil in the peanut butter than cleans and shines chrome. Just a little will do the trick.

DEAR HELOISE: We love the real hot kosher dill pickles, but as they are about twice the price of ordinary dill pickles, I make my own.

I buy regular dill pickles on sale in large jars, season them with salt, cayenne pepper and garlic salt, then refrigerate. I find them every bit as good, and what a saving it is on our budget.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a tip for snapshot savers. When mounting your pictures in an album, place each negative behind the mounted picture.

It's a great timesaver when someone asks you for a copy.

DEAR HELOISE: A hospital gown for home use is easily made from an old shirt.

Button the front and cut the back open from collar to bottom of hem.

This is especially nice for arthritics who are stiff in the arms, for they can just slip both hands into the sleeves in the front. The back can be buttoned, tied or pinned at the neck.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a thrifty tip for the children.

I give my youngsters their own trading stamp books.

When they go to the store for me they get to keep the stamps.

Come holidays, or if there's something they want, they have their own books to spend.

Their allowances are not so pinched this way and they enjoy it more when they can choose from the catalog.

East Germans Say They Point To 'Our Friends'

DRESDEN, East Germany (AP) — "You can always tell where 'our friends' live," the middle-aged East German said with a smile. "They are behind fences like that one with the red stars and the remarkable green paint."

He pointed to a Russian barracks area beside a road. The buildings were behind a fence painted pale green, red stars on the gates. Similar fences wall off Red army barracks all over East Germany.

Near Wittenberg, for example, machineguns atop parked armored personnel carriers peep above such a fence.

The term "our friends" is used by many East Germans with tongue in cheek, a play on such posted Communist party slogans as "everlasting friendship with the Soviet Union."

"No private citizen would put up such a sign on his own initiative," said an old man in Finsterwalde.

Next to Finsterwalde church a Soviet war memorial praises the Red army and mourns its dead. Opposite it a huge sign charges the United States with brutality in Vietnam.

revolt in 1953 that Soviet tanks put down. But the Soviets clearly remain wary and disciplined.

Western military sources in West Berlin say the Soviets have orders to stay close to their barracks and not to mingle with the East Germans to avoid trouble. A traveler passing through much of East Germany saw only one uniformed Soviet in a city at night. He walked down a Weimar street with a girl.

As tourists, however, the Soviets regularly are out in force, mainly in civilian clothes, along with wives and children of officers and noncommissioned officers.

Soviet groups follow German groups for a look at the Wartburg fortress or stand and stare at paintings in the famed Zwinger collection in Dresden. If they like what they hear, they applaud their guides.

Leading hotels are full of Soviet representatives on political or trade missions.

Though the accent is on remaining personally inconspicuous, the Soviet military presence is reaffirmed everywhere in quick glimpses. In good weather, jets roar overhead and helicopters hover. Troop trucks turn off into fields at dusk. Small truck convoys roll up and down autobahn superhighways day and night. Soviet jeeps stand in a row in the harbor at Rostock.

The Soviets seem to have a speed limit of their own, much lower than the official 62 miles an hour on the autobahn. Their vehicles have no special markings except for yellow license plates.

Despite the frequency of such appearances, however, there is no impression that major troop movements are under way.

The Soviet war memorials in many East German cities, towns and villages point up the absence of German military cemeteries.

"German World War II dead are buried in our regular cemeteries," said a Communist official in Frankfurt-On-Oder.

Said a private citizen: "They left us our World War I memorials. They would not have dared go as far as to tear them down."

Both Communists and non-Communists say the Soviet memorials are hardly noticed anymore, whether they are made of ugly white plaster, as in Stralsund, or are majestic and graceful, as in Dresden.

"After awhile you forget they are there," is the general opinion.

Time heals much, and it would appear to be a mistake to say there is still intense bitterness toward the estimated 400,000 Soviet forces in East Germany.

The victorious invasion of the Red army in 1945 and the often brutal immediate consequences are long past, as is the abortive

Blair Conducts Interviews For Teachers Here

Supt. Paul Blair said today he interviewed 12 prospective teachers Wednesday at Fairmont (W. Va.) State Teachers College. Three were from the East Liverpool area.

Blair said he was presented a list of 100 prospective teachers. A total of 25 persons from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland were conducting interviews.

With a beginning salary of $5,000 for a bachelor's degree, East Liverpool represented the lowest beginning salary of the school districts represented, Blair said, most offering $5,300.

Of the 12 the superintendent interviewed, only one was majoring in elementary education.

Blair said he will interview teachers at West Virginia University, Ohio University, Muskingum College, Kent State University and attempt to arrange interviews in some Pennsylvania schools.

Hope Fades For Passage Of Higher Education Bill

CHARLESTON (AP) — Little hope was seen today for passage this session of legislation to remold West Virginia's higher education superstructure.

Several bills proposing various kinds of changes appeared bottled up in Senate and House committees and with too little pushing to get them out and to the floor.

Senate Education Committee Chairman C. H. McKown, D-Wayne, said the bills "appear to be dead."

McKown said there was little support coming from anybody to whip either of the bills out of committee in time for action this year.

Already introduced are bills to create a board of regents, another calling for the regents along with a council on education and a chancellor of higher education, and still another proposing a coordinator of higher education.

All propose to form separate boards for the state colleges, Marshall University and to retain the current board for West Virginia University.

"There's not much support for the board of regents plan or for the others," McKown said.

The House Judiciary Committee still has the board of regents bill in its folder — where it has remained since the committee received it from the House Education Committee more than a week ago.

One possibility remained — though considered remote—that the Senate committee would attempt to report out a bill to create an officer of higher education coordinator along with the separate boards.

This plan carries the endorsement of Gov. Hulett Smith and would give the coordinator sole authority to submit the total budget for all public institutions of higher education.

The State Board of Education now does this for the state colleges and Marshall University and WVU submits its own budget to the Board of Public Works.

McKown said, however, there still was little chance for action on this measure.

"No bill usually gets very far when first introduced," McKown said. "It takes awhile to find out how it really would work and who would be against it," he said.
